

WEST PLAN F IS 'FINAL' --- NO PLAN B

In the school unification game of "who's on first" or, rather, "what's happening Jack" the Contra Costa County Committee on School District Organization ran into another cement wall of legal tape Tuesday night.

It was inevitable, however, in this latest chapter of the "unification comedy."

As the county committee members arrived in the Acalanes High School cafeteria Tuesday night just before 8 p.m., Dr. H. Frank Bradford of the county schools department handed them two pieces of paper.

This copy of a letter from Charles L. Hemmings, deputy district attorney for the county,

In a late development, the Contra Costa County Committee on School District Organization set July 22, 8 p.m. as the date for a special meeting. It will be held in the board room of the county building in Oak Park Boulevard, Pleasant Hill.

The committee will not be augmented for the meeting.

put an end to any thought of discussing and acting on Plan B that evening — or for any evening for quite a while.

AS WE ALL should know now, the county committee decided to junk Plan F for Plan B on June 17, just three months before the September 15 deadline for submitting a school unification plan to the State Board of Education.

Plan F would have split the Acalanes Union High School District in two and made two unified districts.

The unified district in the West would have included Miramonte and Campolindo high schools along with the Orinda, Moraga and Canyon school districts.

THE LATEST development means one thing primarily:

The county committee will never be able to submit a unification plan of any kind to meet the September 15 deadline.

Just what the county committee will do now is uncertain.

Its next regular session is August 6. They could call a special meeting, however, before that time. The June 17 about-face was a special meeting.

A logical step will be to ask the State Board of Education for an extension of time, Dr. Bradford stated.

The last public hearing on a unification plan must be held 30 days before the deadline date of September 15. Dr. Bradford claimed this could never be done because of the legal steps to take.

THE LETTER from the D.A.'s office informed the county committee that its action in the West was "final" and could not be rescinded by anything they could do.

This means that one half of Plan F has been completed. It means that the county committee has a unified district on its hands in the Orinda, Moraga and Canyon area. They don't have anything for the Lafayette-Walnut Creek area, however. And they can't talk Plan B until they get rid of the legal chains of Plan F in the west.

Hemmings suggested one course of action was to send the unification plan for the West to the State Board of Education with a request that it be disapproved.

He said this would allow the county committee a "fresh start." This means the committee would be back to where they were about two years ago.

The committee could also go ahead with the East section of Plan F, finish it with the proper legal hearings, etc., and submit the plan as its final recommendation.

This would please the elementary school boards, although it is not what the committee really wants.

Mrs. Helen Brattain, member of the Lafayette school board, suggested the committee finish off with Plan F then submit it with arguments pro and con and let the state board end the argument.

To make things even better, a member of the county committee didn't think what Hemmings had to say was true and obviously William Leath will bring this up at the next meeting.

HEMMINGS ruled that a tentative proposal could be abandoned by the county committee and new proceeding could begin. He ruled, however, that on May 21 the augmented committee in the West took final action and nothing in the education code covers abandonment of a final recommendation.

Elsewhere in Contra Costa County, unification plans seem to be developing on schedule.

The Martinez area is already unified; Mt. Diablo has always been so; Liberty and San Ramon area have finished legal proceedings and just one more meeting is needed in John Swett and Richmond areas.

It was pointed out, however, that there have been legal snarls in these areas too.

It's certain they haven't been as bad, however.

Bank of America Branch Design 'Disappointing'

Bids for the new Orinda branch of Bank of America in the Village have not yet gone out.

This week, however, civic organizations and residents voiced "concern" and "disappointment" over the proposed building.

The county building inspector has okayed the plans. The questions raised were those of aesthetics.

An architect's drawing was displayed in the post office this week. There will be a 20-foot "alley" separating the bank and post office, which was dedicated last May.

The bank's wall facing the post office will be of windowless concrete block, painted beige.

It will face the glass view wall of the modern post office, designed by Architect Jack Buchter, to take in the wooded vista.

Buchter, Robert Bolman and Dr. Wayne M. Caygill bought the parcel of land from East Bay Municipal Utility District in 1954. The three still have equal interest in the post office property which is up for sale.

LAST YEAR, Dr. Caygill and Bolman bought out Buchter's share in the remaining land (excluding the post office). It was a portion of the 30,000 square feet of land belonging to Caygill and Bolman which the bank purchased.

Continental Service Company, San Francisco, handles property management for the Bank of America. It worked with the former property owner, who actually saw the drawings and gave his approval last April, said a bank official.

The owner's only comment was to be sure and preserve the grove of trees, according to the bank official. He added that all trees in the area will be left intact except for two on the building site.

DR. CAYGILL said that he had hoped the bank would blend in with either the projected or existing architecture.

He felt that the present plans did not do either and expressed "disappointment" in them. There was nothing in writing as to the type of building which would go in, only "a gentlemen's agreement," Dr. Caygill said.

"OUR MAIN concern at the post office is what we're going to look out at," said Postmaster Laura Mallory.

She stated that the people of Orinda had commented about the beautiful view from the post office. "If we're going to look out at a blank wall, we're not going to be very happy," the postmaster said.

Mrs. Mallory pointed out that postal patrons don't "just walk by." They enjoy and appreciate the wooded setting.

"It will make a great deal of difference what is done between the buildings," she added, describing the 20-foot strip between the post office and bank as "no man's land."

THE BANK'S plans for landscaping are uncertain. The post office has no plans for landscaping the strip since it leases (for $19,000 a year).

Perhaps it will have to be done through community effort, and the post office would help with maintenance, Mrs. Mallory suggested.

She pointed out that nobody seemed to be coordinating the beautification of the center. Mrs. Mallory tends some of the plants originally put in.

ORINDA Beautification Committee expressed "disappointment" in their impression of the photograph of the proposed bank building, according to Mrs. Anne Pollacek.

"This is the most beautiful setting in the crossroads or village area... a parklike setting," she said. "We surely give the bank credit for saving the oak trees..."

"Orinda is a unique community interested in gardening and art... It deserves something in a building that would carry out these interests... This is a chance for the Bank of America to do something special."

WILLIAM PENN MOTT, East Bay Regional Park director, expressed interest in the development of the site. He is out of town and will return today.

Mott is a member of the planning committee of the Orinda Association, which currently is studying the proposed plans. Others working as a part of the citizens' group concerned with the area's future are Mrs. Mildred Winslow and Mrs. Faye Zadeh.

The bank official stated: "No one—but no one—has ever made any approach to the bank." He added that he was sure architects of the bank are more than willing to sit down and discuss the perspective of the building with members of the community.

Architectural firm is Wurster, Bernardi and Emmons.

THE BANK building will have an 82-foot frontage and depth of 58 feet. It owns 12 feet of the strip between the bank and post office.

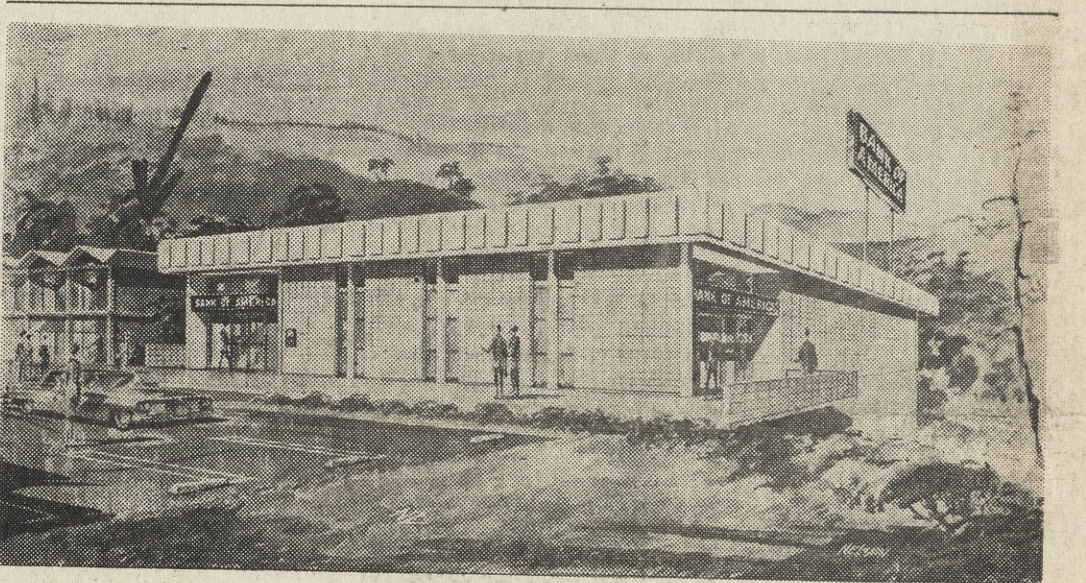

The branch will be of concrete block construction, as is the post office. The bank will have an off-white mosaic crystal quartz overhang. This trim will be painted on the columns which appear in center of the window elevations.

The sign will be electric. It will have white glass lettering on black background. The rear sign is for the benefit of travelers on San Pablo Dam Road, said the bank official.

HEIGHT OF THE sign, he added, would be the same as that of the Lucky Store in the center.

The official stated that the bank nor the county had any word from the community opposing any aspect of the construction. Any suggestions would have been taken into consideration, he added.

It was suggested that any comments from the community be directed to Harry Drexel at Continental Service Company, San Francisco.

Ainsworth Again Elected President Of School Board

J. Gordon Ainsworth was re-elected president for a third term of the board of trustees for the Orinda Union School District Monday night. Mrs. Ruth Gilwee was re-elected clerk.

Two new board members, Richard Bartle and Dr. John Boulware, took the oath of office. They will replace Herbert Waterman and Philip Bush on the board.

Filling out the board is incumbent Mrs. Gretchen Howe.

AINSWORTH is with Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corporation, public relations services. He and his family reside at 73 La Cuesta.

He was elected to the board in May, 1958 for a three-year term. In 1961, he was re-elected for a four-year term.

Ainsworth is a graduate of the University of Washington and attended Harvard Graduate School of Business.

During World War II he served with the U.S. Navy, advancing from ensign to lieutenant commander.

IN OTHER ACTION, the trustees:

1. Approved signing of warrants to include new trustees and Henry Moeller, assistant superintendent, business services. This resolution applies to general fund, not building fund. (Old board members and the superintendent already had this right.)

2. Awarded the bids for furniture additions to science rooms at Glorietta and Inland Valley schools. The furnishings are for three rooms at Glorietta and four at IV. Total amount for furnishing new rooms is $10,000.

3. TRUSTEE Richard Bartle was elected as board representative to help elect members for the county committee on school district organization.

4. The conferences which the district will attend for 1963-64 were approved.

5. It was decided to renew membership in California School Boards Association.

6. THE TRUSTEES reaffirmed their stand against total unification. They were reminded of Tuesday night's meeting. (See separate story.) Ainsworth was the board's official representative.

7. Summer school enrollment was reported to be holding up better than usual by Everett G. McNicholas, assistant superintendent, business services. It is now 1222. Originally, 1394 signed up. Pre-school registration was 1394.

8. The school cafeteria is on a paying basis, announced Henry Moeller, assistant superintendent, business services.

Digitis Caught By Post Office! Orinda Has 94563

First the telephone company used the digit system in the name of greater efficiency.

Now the post office department has caught digitis.

To assure faster, more efficient service, the new ZIP code was inaugurated Monday. Each resident of Orinda was given a ZIP code number.

By now, surely you have memorized it. Close your eyes. Now let's all say it in unison (no peeping).

Mr. Zip is ashamed of you. Look this time and repeat 50 times:

94563.

This is Orinda's ZIP code. Put it after "Orinda, Calif."—that is, if you're mailing a letter in this area.

By next week, Mr. Zip hopes you will know the ZIP code for every city in the United States. It would make him very happy—and needless to add, efficient.

Councilman Resigns in Walnut Creek

Walnut Creek City Councilman Robert Nelson Sunday resigned his civic position in order to accept an offer of employment from the administrators of Walnut Creek Leisure World. He is now a United States Steel executive.

Councilman Frank Driscoll immediately called for an investigation of the affair, but won no support from other members of the council.

Nelson will serve the Golden Rain Foundation as administrator of the Walnut Creek project as units are completed.

He said press of time in his new position, including a training session in Los Angeles would preclude further civic duties.

He will go to work August 1.

15 Acre Fire In Moraga

The second large grass fire in a week scorched the Moraga area Tuesday afternoon.

The fire was reported at 11:36 a.m. It covered 15 acres of grass near the north part of Rheem Boulevard.

THREE fire trucks from Moraga, two from Orinda, and one from Lafayette helped to subdue the blaze.

East Bay Municipal Utility District lent some assistance. It took about two hours to quell the fire.

The area of the fire was in back of a row of houses on Rheem Boulevard. The entire area was enveloped in smoke.

Slang Book Defended by Librarians

The California Library Association has condemned the "hysteria sweeping the state in connection with the Dictionary of American Slang," according to County Librarian Bertha D. Hellum.

Mrs. Hellum presided at a meeting of the association last week in which attacks made on the book were labeled censorship in a strongly worded resolution.

"Free men must stand firm on democratic principles and must exercise the responsibilities that accompany their rights," the resolution said.

The dictionary's treatment of sex was described by the association as factual and historical. The taboo words involved "form only a small part of the whole, and taboo and derogatory terms are clearly indicated as such."

Area Cancer Volunteers

Congratulated

Contra Costa volunteers of the American Cancer Society were congratulated by E. Cyler Hammond, Sc.D., director of the society's research in New York, for their effort in the six-year study of possible relationship of human living habits to cancer.

This was announced by Mrs. John S. Selley, Walnut Creek, who is in charge of the survey in Contra Costa.

The study began in 1959. About 120,000 Californians gave medical histories and information about their families, habits and environment at that time, including 3300 Contra Costans participating.

Each subsequent year volunteer researchers maintained contact with their subjects.

In the third follow-up, started last October and now essentially completed, 98.7 per cent of enrollees have been accounted for in Contra Costa County—"a remarkable and commendable accomplishment," according to Dr. Hammond.

Langridge Again Heads Commission

The regular annual meeting of the board of commissioners of the Orinda Fire Protection District was held at the main station Thursday night.

Among the items of business were:

The re-election of C. W. Langridge as president and Frank Shirey vice president.

CLARENCE E. BETZ was re-appointed secretary-finance officer. These three will serve, along with the other three commissioners, for the ensuing fiscal year.

The other commissioners are Gilbert Earle, S. M. Haslett III and E. H. Clark.

President Langridge, on behalf of the commission, thanked Orinda Fire Chief Al Winsor and residents of the area for the fine cooperation of this past year.

He expressed hope that the district would maintain, and perhaps improve, the high standards of performance of the past.

Board Gives Tax Break For Slide Area Homes

G. B. Williamson, 8 Via San Inigo, Orinda, won a $1000 additional reduction of his property assessment from the board of supervisors Tuesday on the basis of slide damage suffered during last year's heavy rains.

Williamson told the board that he and three neighbors in the slide area had jointly obtained a Small Business Administration loan for repair of homes and reconstruction of the hill behind the homes.

HE AND others in the area were earlier granted a $5000 reduction by the county assessor's office.

Williamson cited real estate broker's estimates in a request for further reduction.

The board finally accepted the amount of Williamson's share of the SBA loan, $6000, as proper reduction in consideration of cost of repair. An additional $1000 added to the original reduction was accepted by Williamson.

He said he did not want to represent his neighbors, but induced they had similar if not worse problems. Williamson's home itself was not damaged by slides, but he will bear a share of the costs for reconstruction of the area up-slope from him.

SUPVISORS indicated that their reduction could be applied in similar fashion to assessments of Williamson's three neighbors, provided they filed a request.

Other property owners referred to by Williamson included David Davis, Morgan Lewis and John Zirkel.

A Mother's Cry

By WALT WRIGHT

"They threw my daughter to the wolves.
"And the wolves have her today."
The woman—call her Jane's mother—rocked silently in her chair, arms wrapped tight about her body. She was speaking about the county probation department, her daughter "Jane" and her daughter's new associates.

The furore that surrounds the county's juvenile hall had taken on a different tone with the lament of a mother for her daughter. It was more than statistics; it was love, hate and anguish.

Jane's mother has them all. Spurred by the example of Mrs. Mildred Alexander, outspoken critic of the county probation department's handling of juveniles, she had come forward with her case.

The case is complex and probably not typical of most involving juvenile hall. But much of it happened there, and what is presented here is true in its essential facts, with details altered to protect those involved.

The case is mostly Jane: 17 years old, an outstanding swimmer and diver, attractive despite slashes of makeup, a good student, musician, a date much sought by the most popular boys in a local high school.

Jane: a carrier of venereal disease, wrists scarred from two unsuccessful and perhaps "superficial" suicide attempts in juvenile hall, mind scarred by the homosexual advances of other girls in the hall.

"When Jane came, we bought our first house. With winding stairs—just so she could walk down those stairs at her wedding."

Jane: desperately in love with a married man in a valley town. His wife (they are Catholics) has won a suit for separate maintenance and support of their child. Jane met him while staying at a foster home in his town.

He has a criminal record, is said to use marijuana.
"There was no control over her in the foster home... out until 5 a.m. ... her letters indicated she was free to go anywhere."

Jane: invited to a governor's inaugural celebration, unable to attend because she was in jail.

"And the probation officer said to me, 'What are you fussing about?' She only stayed with him one night."

Transit Office to Stay In S.F.—Temporarily

Headquarters of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District will remain in San Francisco—at least for a few years.

The vote Tuesday afternoon in a special meeting was 7-4. Three Alameda County voters kept the office in San Francisco.

They voted with the four San Francisco representatives on the board of directors.

ALL THREE of Contra Costa County directors voted for an Oakland office, along with one Alameda director.

Septic Tank Code Changes Carried Over

Regulations for installation of septic tanks in unincorporated areas of Contra Costa will be beefed up before summer is out, despite the fact that the board of supervisors Tuesday continued proposed code amendments until August 6.

Continuance came after representatives from the low-lying Bethel Island area asked for a three-to-five-year moratorium in their particular case.

Supervisor Mel Nielsen of Lafayette opposed such a move, arguing that "people in my district stand to spend a lot more than you'll spend on that whole island for the necessary improvements."

AMENDMENTS county health officer Dr. Henrik L. Blum will ask for include:

Increasing lot size from 10,000 to 20,000 square feet as minimum requirement for a septic tank system installation.

Requirement of an acre lot size rather than 15,000 square feet for installation of both septic tank system and private water supply or well.

Maximum elevation of water table below site will be set at four feet, with the possible exception of the Bethel Island area.

OTHER requirements call for lesser ground slopes than now accepted and reclassification of stabilized earth and fill materials.

Dr. Blum pointed out that the department would retain the right of preventing construction of any system considered a hazard to health, and said the code requirements serve primarily as minimum guides.

Gordon Elected President of College District

George R. Gordon, Martinez attorney, was elected president for a fifth term of the Contra Costa College District at the annual reorganization meeting of the governing board, Monday night.

The board re-elected William J. Kretzmer as vice president and Harmon K. Howard as secretary.

Gordon is a charter appointee to the board. He became its first president when the district was organized in 1949.

Kretzmer is a Richmond attorney. He recently joined Assemblyman John Knox in a law partnership in Richmond.

Howard is a former official of the Howard Terminal Company in Oakland. He is now secretary of the Morris Plan Company of California.

The headquarters will be located at 814 Mission Street in the former San Francisco News building.

Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco had loudly accused the transit directors of yielding to politics, lobbying and public relations campaigns in even considering an East Bay site.

The transit directors' vote also provided for locating the permanent district somewhere in the East Bay near maintenance shops for the trains and other equipment after the designing stage is over.

The temporary headquarters in San Francisco will use about 2½ floors of the old News building.

THE MOVE from the present Flood Building will take place about September 1.

Directors plan to be in the Mission Street building from three to five years.

Oakland's city council moved fast and in a 7-0 vote decided to ask the directors to reconsider.

Some members were visibly upset at the voting pattern of the Alameda directors.

The annual rent of the News building will be $92,100, of which the district will pay $52,500 and the engineering firms the balance.

Knox Consumer Bills Passed In Legislature

Bills protecting consumers against land fraud and insuring cleanliness of stuffed toys have passed the state legislature under authorship of Assemblyman John Knox of the 11th District.

In a year-end resume by the state consumer counsel, Knox bills are described as prohibiting land developers and subdividers who sell in California from making false claims in advertising, with more enforcement power in the hands of the state real estate commissioner and establishing safeguards guaranteeing cleanliness of stuffing in toys.

Other bills passed included:

Requirement that the net weight statement appear on the principal display panel of a container.

Requirement that weight of bread appear on the wrapper in letters at least one-quarter inch high.

Prohibition of such qualifying terms as "jumbo," "giant" and "full"—which, says the counsel, "tend to exaggerate the amount of the product in the container."

Civil Right to Be Discussed

Robert L. Condon, president of the Contra Costa County Bar Association, will meet with other bar leaders in San Francisco Tuesday to discuss the area's civil rights problems.

William P. Gray of Los Angeles, president of the State Bar of California, has called three regional meetings of local bar association leaders to work together in the solution of civil rights problems.

Gray just returned from a visit to Washington, where the President asked the help of lawyers to bring about local community understanding.

Board Of Supervisors

The county board of supervisors took the following action at their meeting Tuesday in Martinez:

SALARIES: Set Tuesday hearing on report on salary recommendations from the Civil Service Commission.

VETERANS: Transferred responsibility for veterans' exemptions probe from the 1962-63 grand jury to the county assessor and district attorney in order to release 1962-63 grand jury.

PATROL BOAT: Awarded a contract of $25,770 to Colberg Incorporated, Stockton, for construction of a Sheriff's Patrol Boat, motor and radio to be supplied by county.

FINES: Approved request of Concord-Pleasant Hill Municipal Court for bookkeeping changes to account for $1740 in uncollectible fines.

FIRE DISTRICT: Approved withdrawal of about 80 acres of land from the Briones County Fire Protection District and annexation of same to Lafayette Fire District, parcel located on Russell Tree Farm property.

SEPTIC TANKS: Delayed until August 6 action on county health officer's request for more stringent regulation of septic tank installation.

ASSESSMENTS: Granted a $1000 reduction in property assessment to G. B. Williamson, 8 Via San Inigo, Orinda, for slide damage to property.

JUVENILE HALL: Received a report from an independent study committee on Juvenile Hall school charging county with protection of poor practices at hall.

YOUTH WORK: Cut student worker salaries from $2.71 per hour to $1.75 per hour to allow employment of more young men during summer student worker program.

Among the latter are such "badly needed buildings" as a new county jail and prison rehabilitation center, a receiving center for neglected children and a delinquent girls center.

McBrien suggested bond financing for these buildings and for the park program.

The park and recreation commission had asked for about $835,000 to initiate land acquisition, and several agencies, notably the grand jury, had urged the new jail and additions to juvenile hall.

The budget would increase taxes from $2.195 to $2.212 per $100 assessed valuation.

In addition, a 15.3-cent library tax rate would bring county property taxes to a total of $2.365 (except in Richmond, which supports its own library system).

WELFARE COSTS represent almost exactly half of county expenditures proposed for the new fiscal year: $27,893,295, an increase of $2,637,794.

"Additional appropriations recommended provide for increased requirements necessary in order to qualify for 75 per cent federal support for administrative expenses instead of the current 50 per cent," McBrien said.

The welfare program includes $7.46 million for aid to needy children, $5.3 million for aid to needy aged and $5.5 million for county hospital.

Young people are visiting the elderly at Napa Hospital, and will help mentally handicapped children as junior counselors at Camp Sierra near Strawberry Lake. They have taped record books and typed large-print material for the blind, and have been invaluable in setting up the Walnut Creek Pageant of Arts.

Opportunities for both boys and girls are available. Interviews are conducted at the Contra Costa County Volunteer Bureau office at 2363 Boulevard Circle, Walnut Creek. Contact may be made by calling 954-0424.

Co. Board, Agencies Labeled Protectors of Juvenile Hall

The Fourth of July

Still a great day, right? But this year it heralds a long holiday weekend. Everyone will be hitting the highways and thronging to beaches and parks. Have fun, we say, but take it easy.

Cartoon drawn by Gene Shehorn

1.7-Cent Tax Hike Foreseen

Increased county welfare costs represent more than half of a $4 million county budget increase over last year which will raise taxes 1.7 cents per $100 assessed valuation if approved by the board of supervisors.

A tentative record budget of $55,043,169 for 1963-64 was submitted to the board Monday by County Administrator J. P. McBrien.

Significantly absent from the total was McBrien's recommended $682,780 for the pay-as-you-go park plan, $369,000 in salaries and fringe benefits to be discussed next Tuesday, and $3.5 million for building needs.

Among the latter are such "badly needed buildings" as a new county jail and prison rehabilitation center, a receiving center for neglected children and a delinquent girls center.

McBrien suggested bond financing for these buildings and for the park program.

The park and recreation commission had asked for about $835,000 to initiate land acquisition, and several agencies, notably the grand jury, had urged the new jail and additions to juvenile hall.

The budget would increase taxes from $2.195 to $2.212 per $100 assessed valuation.

In addition, a 15.3-cent library tax rate would bring county property taxes to a total of $2.365 (except in Richmond, which supports its own library system).

"Additional appropriations recommended provide for increased requirements necessary in order to qualify for 75 per cent federal support for administrative expenses instead of the current 50 per cent," McBrien said.

The welfare program includes $7.46 million for aid to needy children, $5.3 million for aid to needy aged and $5.5 million for county hospital.

County roads would cost $8.8 million, $1.7 million more than last year. Public protection follows closely at $8.5 million, a $1.2 million increase.

GENERAL AND administrative costs will drop by $1.7 million if the board approves $6.1 million for the category.

McBrien noted that over $30 million of the budget is financed through other revenue than that obtained by property taxes. About $27 million came from non-property-tax sources last fiscal year.

The preliminary budget must be adopted by July 11 and the final budget by August 30.

Printed copies of the preliminary document will be available by August 9 and public hearings will be held for 10 days starting August 20.

Builders, Homebuyers In Uproar: Apt. Case

Both the Central County Builders Exchange and the Home Buyers Protective Association this week took issue with the county board of supervisors over the emergency fire legislation passed two weeks ago.

R. E. Whitham, Homebuilders president, said the group was concerned about the manner in which the board passed the recent emergency ordinance which is the basis for denial of a permit for construction of the J. J. Prentice apartments in Rheem.

The association "strongly protests the method used by which an individual's interpretation of a code is upheld without basis of fact and sufficient evidence," Whitham declared.

Emergency ordinances, he said, should not be passed "unless the evidence is irrefutable." Calling for an investigation and a public hearing on the matter, Whitham said the interpretation of the law by one person (the county building inspector) did not constitute proper consideration.

AT THE SAME time the Central Contra Costa Builders Exchange offered to mediate in the dispute over the fire regulation amendment.

Exchange Director Vic Engel, in a softly-worded letter, said the dispute constituted a threat to good relations between builders and the county and to the building industry as a whole.

"If the language of the code cannot be relied upon, the code itself should be carefully reviewed to avoid further disputes between a competent building inspection department and intelligent members of our industry," Engel said.

THE DISPUTE arose when the board passed an emergency ordinance to stiffen fire regulations for apartments with interior corridors.

The ordinance was passed (four to one, Supervisor Mel Nielsen opposed) after the board had received an application for a building permit from Prentice.

He would have been able to obtain his permit under the terms of the existing ordinance.

Prentice's backers quote several supervisors as saying, in effect, "let him take us to court."

Later in the week, the Home Builders Association of Contra Costa County asked the board not to pass emergency legislation without holding public hearings.

Ernest D. Holly, executive vice president of the association, said that it "seemed rather ludicrous to have one of these ordinances changed without coordination of thinking between professional and county agencies."

Study Group Says Poor Practices Are Shielded

An independent outside study group examining the Juvenile Hall educational program has charged four county agencies and the board of supervisors with being protective of poor health, care and maintenance practices in force at Juvenile Hall.

The words which close the 12-page report by a special visiting committee are the strongest it contains, and perhaps the strongest yet written in the growing detention facility uproar.

"There is a possible violation of the health and safety code due to extreme overcrowding," the committee observed.

And then it listed the health department, county superintendent of schools office, board of supervisors, department of public works and the probation department itself as apparent protectors of poor practices involved.

THE COMMITTEE was brief in its appraisal of Administrator Robert W. Hamlin. "The administrator is properly trained and is capable of handling the position."

But there is a lack of leadership for revision of practices involving many county agencies at the hall and a lack of coordination between central and local administration, the report said.

"At times local administration is allowed to act independently; at other times actions and opinions are overridden; e.g., this evaluation was, in the final analysis, imposed and not the voluntary act of the Juvenile Hall School in any of its parts."

THE REPORT asked particularly for more teachers and more staff, as well as development of co-educational school and activity programs.

It also blasted the "attitude of some members of the staff which verges on the unprofessional."

The report said committee members were dismayed at attitudes of staff when they met with the committee and rejected the idea of staying overtime to do so. "It is the belief of the committee that this response was not an isolated response to this particular situation."

Singled out for special praise was the use of volunteers in the school and the rapport between the auxiliary and staff.

HOUSEKEEPING services, care of the school plant and maintenance services were commended "in light of the compounding problems which assault an overtaxed, poorly planned building."

Specific faults noted included "poor" planning of educational activities for work-experience details, a weak remedial reading program, lack of family life courses for the girls, misuse of some rooms for recreation purposes.

In the area of activities, the committee specifically asked for an examination of security procedures to see if more privileges could be granted for school-related activities.

The committee included A. Lamont Smith, lecturer in criminology at the University of California; Superintendent David Fogel of the Marin County Juvenile Hall; Lawrence Reinecke of Alameda County Schools Office, and Glenn Dufour Jr., superintendent-principal of the John Swett Union High School District, Crockett.

Nielsen Wants Outside Study Of Juvenile Hall

Supervisor Mel Nielsen said Tuesday he wants an outside agency to study problems and policies at Juvenile Hall.

His remarks came as an aside as the board received a report on the hall's educational system Nielsen has indicated his concern over expenditure of funds at the Byron Boys facility while little has been done at the hall.

SUPERVISOR Edmund Lind-scheid, on the Social Programs Committee with Nielsen, said it would be regrettable to spend money on a study if it could be spent for actual construction of new facilities.

Nielsen told The Sun he was anxious to see a master plan of development for juvenile facilities.

THE TWO supervisors will consider a report being drawn up by County Probation Officer John Davis within the next two weeks.

County Administrator J. P. McBrien is scheduled to appear with the report July 16.

At the same time, crusading juvenile hall volunteer Mrs. Mildred Alexander said it was a "matter of economic necessity for this community to rehabilitate young people now at the juvenile hall level rather than on welfare rolls in the not-too-distant future."

SHE ALSO said she was "extremely sorry to learn that certain counselors and auxiliary members at juvenile hall feel I have maligned their work in connection with my attack on Mr. Davis."

Such reactions had been quoted in the press earlier this week. "Nothing could be further from the truth," Mrs. Alexander said.

"I am merely advocating a more progressive detention system for the children and youth of our county, a plan which will emphasize prevention, control and treatment," she said.

Patrol Boat Bid Accepted

The marine shell of a Sheriff's Patrol Boat will be built for Contra Costa by Colberg Incorporated, Stockton, low bidder for the "county's navy."

Colberg submitted a low bid of $27,800, which was reduced by change order to $25,770.

Under the agreement authorized Tuesday by the board of supervisors, the county will furnish engines and radio equipment for the 31-foot vessel.

Total cost is estimated at $40,000.

The boat was designed by Marine Architect Chris Norgaard for patrol of the delta area.

Supervisor Mel Nielsen of Lafayette was the sole objector to the contract.

Floriculture Honors Won At County Fair

The Orchard Nursery won the grand prize in floriculture at the recently opened Alameda County Fair at Pleasanton.

The nursery won two blue ribbons for its Japanese garden and in addition received a special award as the best designed exhibit in the show.

The exhibit was designed and installed under the supervision of Henry Matsutani of Concord. Matsutani spent many years of his life working and designing of a "fleet" of smaller boats.

He indicated he was in favor of a "fleet" of smaller boats easily transportable by trailer for more adequate delta area patrol.

Moraga Memo

Bang-Up Fourth Flies By...

By YVONNE MAUZEY

MORAGA'S ZIP number is 94556. Be sure to put on all mail on return address so those you write can add it to your address when writing you. That is all we need is to try to remember about ten other people's Zip numbers!

I can't even remember my own phone number, with all the additional numbers! I hope this turns out zipper than the all-digit dialing did. You try to call a friend long distance, so you dial info to get the new number, which she herself spends 10 minutes finding.

Then you get the operator and ask her, to get the number which you have already tried to dial and she interrupts to tell you "Sorry that number cannot be dialed, as yet?" So she calls an operators information to check the number which info gave you, because she doesn't think it sounds right. They give her a number which puts her into a code area, where she contacts another operator to tell her the number you are wanting to contact. Five operators and 15 minutes later you get the call through to find nobody home. And try the whole routine later.

Before progress, and these speedier methods came along, you could dial O tell her you wanted so and so in whatever town, and within two minutes you were talking.

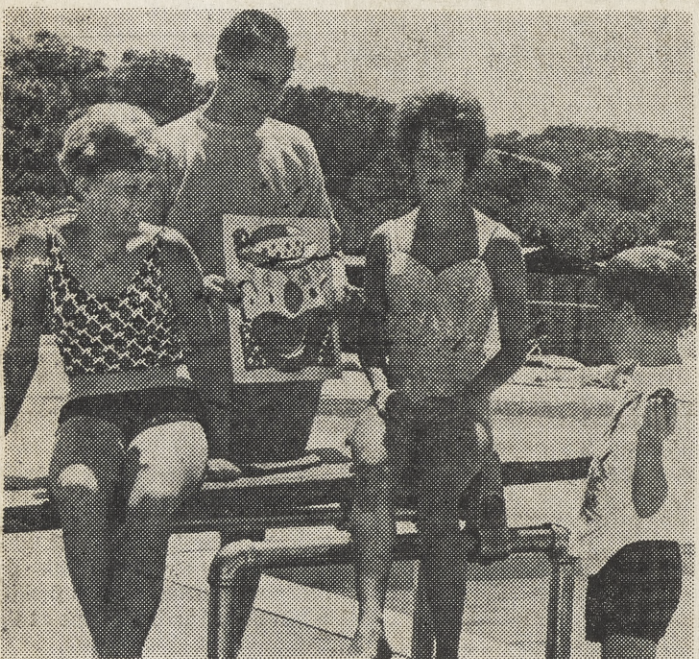

Well, there's one consolation. The new method, surely couldn't have put anyone out of work. If anything it must have eased the employment situation by quite a few girls!

CARROLL COUNTRY CLUB dance June 22 was a huge success. Everyone showed up in outstanding costumes, making it hard for judges to choose the best of the homemade Roaring 20's outfits.

First prize went to Freddie Onisko, in a purple satin with a ruffle around the bottom of the dress, lined in lavender with beads and head band to match. Receiving honorable mention were Eleanor Clark, Ruth Curtin, Dorothy Meridith. The prize for briefest of all went to Edith Reed, in a very colorful royal blue brief.

New members of the club attending included Jack and Polly Smith, Verne & Dick Boker, Don & Mary Ridenhour, En & Marguerite Everett, Gerry & Ruth Curtin, and Bill and Elene Fortman.

A piano player was imported from Albany, to play a rinky dink piano and old time songs by request. Everyone enjoyed the community sing, and the song sheets of the old time favorites. The club's two English couples Cliff & Bobbie Leftly and Dot &

Mick Meridith each sang duets of Cockney songs in their British accent. Which everyone enjoyed immensely.

The decorations, done by Freddie Onisko, were such a huge success everyone was wanting to bid on one or two items. But Freddie's husband says NO! The silhouette of the Nude behind the bar was his! There were also silhouette sketches on the wall of the Roaring twenties dancers in great detail, with fringe flying, maps of the gangsters territories, with each gangland's area outlined, and behind the bar the life size silhouette of the nude, that everyone wanted to take home.

The Carroll Club's next party is planned for July and will be a family party, to take place in the afternoon, more details to follow.

2 Canyon Girls Win For Poems

Diane Williams and Robin Day of Canyon School recently received blue ribbons for poems submitted in the children's poetry fair in Sacramento.

The state-wide contest, sponsored by the California Federation of Chaparral Poets, was open to all schools in California.

The rules permitted the entry of just two poems per school.

DIANE'S POEM was written as a result of her first grade research on games and sports of Italian children.

It is entitled "Come and Play."

Be happy, do not cry,
Be happy, do not sigh.
Come and play a game with me—
Come and play and you will see

What I can play.
Come on, do be gay
Games are fun for everyone.
Come and play in the sun
You can play and run.
You can be funny but you can't be a bunny.

ROBIN DAY, a sixth grader, calls her poem simply "Night":

Over the shadows of the Dark blue night—
The silvery moon sails
Oh! so bright.

The stars come out, twinkling
Twinkling in the night.
The night will sleep on Until the dawn.
The dawn is breaking through the night.
Morning will come now, come fast.
Night is gone at last.

Big With Wigs: Bruno Styles Leading Ladies

Janet Blair, in a memorable scene in South Pacific, shampoos her long tresses, washing that man out of her hair in the Melodyland production now playing in Berkeley.

And then has exactly seven minutes to get off and back on stage with every wisp of her coiffure in place just as it was before the soap and water.

How is it done?

The combination of heavy turkish towels, Walnut Creek hair-stylist Rick Bruno (he cuts and combs at Goldman's) — and a wig which precisely duplicates Miss Blair's hair-style — manage to do the trick in seven minutes flat.

Rick, whose styles created off-stage and a breezy performing style on-stage are known to Contra Costa Musical Theatre audiences, has also just completed two weeks of shaping the locks of Miss Ginger Rogers, who closed in Melodyland's "Unsinkable Molly Brown" this week.

Miss Rogers wore two wigs in the show, called for by a quick shift from a back-woods scene to a fashionable French drawing room.

"We just didn't have enough time to reset a raggedy-ann into a Marie Antoinette," Bruno observes.

Other leading ladies scheduled to appear at Melodyland include Anne Blyth (in Carnival) and Ann Jeffries (in Bells are Ringing).

Three Bores Soon? Repair Job Set

An $80,000 repair job on the ventilating system in Caldecott Tunnel will probably start late next month, according to the district office of the State Division of Highways.

At the same time The Sun learned the new bore should be open to traffic by July, 1964, but it will be much longer before all three bores will be in use.

The state will advertise for bids sometime this month.

It will take at least a few weeks to get the project underway, according to a spokesman in the San Francisco district office.

The contract will allow 150 working days in which to complete the project.

There will be no interruption of traffic whatsoever, The Sun was told.

THE REPLACEMENT of fan bearing in the ventilation system at this time is an emergency measure, according to the spokesman.

The work was supposed to be part of a general renovation of the existing two bores of the tunnel when the new bore is completed.

The state decided, however, the ventilation repair could not wait. Money for the project was approved June 27 by the State Department of Public Works.

The state's timetable for completion of the new bore is now July, 1964.

COMMUTERS should restrain their job, however, as one of the old bores will be closed down as soon as the new one is open for the complete renovation.

The second existing bore will then be closed for similar repair work as soon as the other is finished.

So, it will be much longer than a year before all three bores will be in operation for traffic relief.

The state is in no position to judge how long at this time, The Sun learned.

The contracts for the renovation work are in the midst of preparation now.

The renovation of the old bores will include:

- 1) Lighting all the way through the two bores. (The same as the present lights in the entrance.)
- 2) Improving pavement and drainage in both bores.
- 3) Refinishing the interior completely.
- 4) Modernizing the electrical and mechanical system so all these bores will be operated from the same portal building.
- 5) Construction of a lane-control system to utilize two of the three bores for peak traffic times. (This could be a separate contract.)

Change Urged in Hospital Plan

Several changes in an arrangement between the county and district hospitals were advocated in the area of indigent emergency care by the grand jury and the board of supervisors.

The committee's report was released Tuesday.

All recommendations of the committee have been adopted by the grand jury and presented to the board of supervisors.

AS FAR AS emergency services and the reimbursement of the district hospital for their costs in indigent emergency care, the committee suggested a policy where an agreement could be worked out between the county administration and the hospitals.

The committee noted that there is some disagreement about the legal responsibility of district hospital, but that the hospitals feel a "moral" responsibility for accepting and treating severely injured, indigent persons.

The committee pointed out that the main drawback to a contract between the county medical director and these hospitals is the requirement that the hospitals have a doctor on duty 24 hours. Only one district hospital complies although all others have a staff for 24 hour duty.

Upon the grand jury's recommendation last year, the supervisors accepted in principle some specific recommendations on this matter, the committee reported, but attached five principles.

THE COMMITTEE has recommended that the 24-hour provision be dropped as a condition of contract between the hospitals and the county administration. Committee members feel the cost of a doctor at most district hospitals is not warranted.

A caseload and cost study of the Pittsburg Hospital emergency service was given by the committee in support of the recommendation.

The committee also recommended that two other conditions also be dropped. They are: "Standards of emergency care shall conform to those prescribed by the county medical director."

"Payment by the county to hospitals providing emergency care to patients who do not have the ability to pay shall be limited in total to the maximum charges which would be made by the county hospital for comparable care."

The committee noted that standards of emergency care already are high in the district hospitals of the county and they should not be under the control of the director just because an occasional indigent patient is admitted.

IN REGARD to the latter point, the committee stated that maximum "costs" to the county hospital would seem to be more to the point than maximum charges.

The committee recommends that payments be made to the district hospitals at their regular charges.

The committee also recommended that the county's present contract with California Physicians Services be continued for at least another 12 months.

CPS now is the agency that processes the county medical care bills.

It has been proposed that the county take care of this service.

In conjunction with the grand jury's committee on social welfare, finance and audit, a study was made of the proposal.

The committee's recommendations also stated that a study be made on costs and vendor relationships of counties now processing their own medical bills.

It also recommended that another study be made jointly by the county that CPS to incorporate eventually the best features of both.

The suggestion that the speed that could be provided by eligibility lists from the county be used with present vendor relationship of CPS was also made.

The committee noted in its report that it concentrated its efforts on specific areas rather than on a general survey of facilities because of the "excellent and thorough report" of the 1961-62 grand jury.

UPON INVESTIGATION of the county hospital, the committee found a report that the hospital did not collect from Blue Cross and CPS was not true.

The committee felt that the building of a special geriatric hospital on the county hospital ground is an "important matter" because of increasing number of aged cases.

The committee made no recommendation on the matter, however.

The committee, likewise, took no position on the proposal that the county hospital provide a central meal service to include the county jail and juvenile hall.

It did suggest, however, that the rehabilitation value of inmates and juveniles preparing and serving their own food be considered as well as any saving that might occur.

Cry For Her Child

Jane's mother admits that the problem is more than Jane herself, knows the truth of the cliché that behind every child with troubles is a family with troubles.

But her bill of complaints against the probation department claims that the county agency has in fact neglected her daughter while removing her from her home.

"There were long periods with no communication from the probation department while Jane was in juvenile hall."

"They refused to let us see her, but—at the hearing—said we didn't want to see her."

"They refused to let us know where the foster home was and refused to insist that Jane see us while she was in the home."

"They didn't care where Jane was in January and February of this year after she had run away."

"She received no psychiatric care while in juvenile hall."

The probation department has its point of view in the matter. Probation worker Ruth Thomas told The Sun that Jane's parents had indicated in various ways that they could not control the girl, that, in fact, they did not want her at home if they could not control her.

"She did see a psychologist when she first entered the hall about a year ago," Mrs. Thomas said. Previous observations of the case were forwarded to the hall from Jane's former home town. "We didn't go into the full battery of tests," she added. "Could more have been done with Jane a year ago?"

"Yes . . . we took extra time with her as it was, but we don't have the staff . . . perhaps if a substantial amount of time had been spent with her at the beginning we could have done something for her."

And lack of staff, says Mrs. Thomas, "prevents us from doing the job we feel is necessary with the parents, to help them see the problem in terms of the family."

Regarding Jane's foster home: "We first referred Jane to a children's home, which in turn put her in a foster home."

"Both of these places are 'open' institutions . . . you weigh the risks against the values . . . we felt the risks were justified."

The probation worker told us there are few if any institutions which would accept Jane now. Nearing 18, she will probably go next to the California Youth Authority.

Sixty per cent of those committed to CYA return to CYA. Meanwhile, Jane's mother considers what will become of the girl who was to walk down the winding stairs.

"You know," she said, "we took her to yet another psychiatrist a few weeks ago. We all talked with him."

"He said to me, 'Mrs. —, scratch it. Forget it. You've tried and you've failed.'"

"But how do you cut off love?"

"A mother doesn't give up. Society may, but a mother never gives up."

Dr. Wright to Work For Pedregal Center

Dr. Herbert C. Enos, founder and medical supervisor of the Pedregal Center, Lafayette, has announced the addition to his staff of Dr. John Edward Wright, psychiatrist in charge of the Stockton day treatment center and consultant at the State Hospital for group psychotherapy.

Dr. Wright was a student of the Yale Extension Program for Psychiatry.

PRIOR to coming to California, Dr. Wright was in private practice at Del Rey Beach, Fla., specializing in neurology and psychiatry at the University of Miami Medical School.

An experienced speaker, Dr. Wright will be available free of charge, to speak before service, civic, women's and parents' groups.

ARRANGEMENTS may be made by calling Pedregal Center, 284-1611.

Dr. Wright's non-professional interests include golf, fishing, painting and piano.

He is also active in the Episcopal Church, Kiwanis and ATO fraternity.

Burglars Get Radiators, Electric Saw, Boat Gear

Radiators, an electric chain saw, a girl's bike and boating equipment were among items stolen this week, according to reports of sheriff's deputies.

Burglars kicked out a hole in a wall at Julien's Radiator Works, 2768 Camino Diablo, Walnut Creek, to remove four new radiators and 15 junk cores. The radiators were valued at $200.

A $225 chain saw was taken from the Rheem Land Company in Rheem Valley Friday, deputies said.

Attempts to steal two cars, one in Pleasant Hill and one in Orinda, were reported over the weekend.

BRYAN MINGHAM, 19, of 342 Maureen Lane, Pleasant Hill, told deputies the front left window of his car near the locking button had been smashed as vandals attempted to open the locked car.

In Orinda, burglars ripped a gash in the convertible top of a car belonging to Nancy Bullwinkel as it was parked on the girl's driveway at 225 Cannon Drive. Damage was estimated at $100.

A girl's 26-inch bike belonging to Colleen Crist, 145 Hookston Road, Pleasant Hill, was stolen early Monday morning.

Approximately $25 worth of equipment was removed from boats at the Monument Marine, 3321 North Main Street, Pleasant Hill, over the weekend, deputies said.

VANDALS also plugged up toilets and wash room basins and caused flooding in the office of the boat shop.

William Riddle, a wholesale plumber at 794 Hawthorne Drive, Walnut Creek, told deputies that 50 pounds of galvanized nails were stolen from his storeroom last week.

Oil guages were stolen from a car belonging to Phillip Miller, 3350 North Lucile Lane, Lafayette, Saturday night in Orinda when Miller and his wife were attending the show.

Auto parts, valued at $70, were removed from a car belonging to Roger Brackley, 16, 235 Pleasant Valley Drive, Pleasant Hill, including a steering wheel, a tachometer, carburetors and a manifold.

'In the Shadows'

OUR NEW BREED—Almost tearfully, a high school graduate informed friends that her best friend, also a '63 grad, had run off to be married to a boyfriend nine years her senior who worked in a local service station. The reason? As the girl explained Nevada and the quick marriage was a way out of her mother's insistence on a college career—which was not desired by the girl. Every year the college status symbol gets worse, doesn't it.

MEOW . . . That official memo Pleasant Hill City Manager Leland Walton sent to his staff last Friday, sent them all scurrying for catnip. Under the subject, "Glad Tidings," he wrote: "Beginning Friday a.m. I shall abstain myself from official duties until Friday, July 5. Realizing full well that mice will play when the cat's away, I hereby appoint Jim Orput as acting pussy cat."

Okay Boundaries For Briones Land

The county boundary commission Tuesday approved boundaries surrounding approximately 3350 acres of land in the Briones area for its addition to the Contra Costa Soil Conservation District.

Philip Bancroft Jr. of Concord was the proponent for the move, which involves acreage north of Bear Creek.

Therapy Center Sets Fund Drive

A coordinated community effort to raise funds for the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center was announced this week by Vance W. Perry, president of the center's board of directors, at a meeting of center officials.

Perry pointed out that the demands made upon the center for increased services makes expansion of the present facility on Golf Club Road in Pleasant Hill imperative.

A recent change in policy expanding care to all types of handicapped persons brought about the final decision to go ahead with a public appeal for funds.

JAMES E. LINDSAY, Orinda resident and staff engineer for Standard Oil Company of California, will direct the fund drive to be conducted in August and September.

Lindsay has been an active member of the center's board of directors since 1961.

He has served on the finance and sheltered workshop committees. Long active in civic and school affairs, he is a past president of Moraga Woodlands Association and is current president of the Lester C. Uren Foundation, dedicated to increasing technical education at the University of California.

He has participated in the business division of the San Francisco Chapter of the Red Cross and the San Francisco Community Fund.

He will head a volunteer organization representing every community in the area served by the center.

APPOINTED to serve as co-chairman of the drive is Mrs. King Tolles of Concord. Mrs. Tolles has been active in Therapy Center work for the past 12 years as a member and current president of the Robins, Concord auxiliary unit to the center.

She is a past president of the Diablo Women's Garden Club, Parent-Teachers Association in Oakland and past president of Contra Costa County Pharmacists' Auxiliary.

She will help recruit a women's division to work side by side with men volunteers in the area-wide effort to raise a minimum of $50,000 needed for the expansion program.

"The tremendous population growth of our area has placed increasing demands on the center which could not have been envisioned 10 years ago," Lindsay stated.

He added that in addition to many small improvements and additions, immediate needs include a new wing so the center's program may be broadened.

The center's therapeutic swimming pool must be completed and properly housed for year-round use in treatment of patients. The sheltered workshop building is being used to full capacity and a new building is urgently needed to accommodate a greater number of handicapped clients. New diagnostic evaluation services recently started at the center bring about the need for more space.

The campaign will be called "Operation Growth" and will stress the unique services of the center which was conceived and developed as a community project.

Giants vs. Dodgers in WC

A local replica of the greatest rivalry in baseball, the Giant-Dodger battle, will take place this Sunday when the Sports and Games Giants host the L. A. Dodgers from Lodi at Walnut Creek's Civic Field, game time 11 a.m.

The Lodi Dodgers are another rookie aggregation of the same classification as the local Giants. As such they are comprised of the top college players of the San Joaquin Valley.

Thus far they have compiled an impressive record. However, one of the few defeats they have suffered was at the hands of the Concord Rebels, 5-4.

Sunday's encounter will mark the first of four game series to be played over the season.

The Rebels handed Sports and Games their first loss of the season Saturday, winning it by a 5-3 count in 10 innings.

JIM RICOLI'S two-run homer in the 10th frame capped a three run inning and provided the margin of victory.

Coming up with a run in their half of the 10th, the Giants made a determined bid to pull the game out, but with bases loaded and one out they couldn't get the big blow.

Lack of the key hit was the story of the day for the Walnut Creek aggregation. In all, they left a total of 14 runners to die on the base paths.

Jumping off to a fast start, the Rebels scored Terry Caviglia doubled and scored on Rex Bankhead's single.

SPORTS AND GAMES tied the contest up in their half of the GREAT CATCH—but it didn't count. Concord Rebel first baseman Bob Nelson's great effort on a foul ball went for naught when it was ruled that the ball was out of play. Sports and Games coach, Fran Morris looks on.

Rich Stephenson tripled, Sulprizio singled him home, and scored on two errors in the following inning.

Jacuzzi had eight hits, while Stephenson allowed six in winning his second game.

Jacuzzi smashed 11 hits in rolling over the Martinez Boys' Club, 12-2, behind the six-hit pitching of Sulprizio.

Shepherd drove in three runs on six hits, a walk and an error in the second frame.

THE TEAM scored five runs on six hits, a walk and an error in the second frame.

Jacuzzi whipped the Danville Angels 7-1 for the third win.

Jacuzzi jumped off to two-run lead on Stephenson's single, scoring Campbell and Dave Stewart.

IN THE SEVENTH they iced it with four runs. Shepherd driving in two with a double.

Blencowe was the winning pitcher in relief, giving up one hit and an unearned run.

Doten Pontiac of Orinda blanked the Danville Stars 6-0.

Doten collected nine hits, while playing errorless ball.

Mike Salata pitched a four-hit shutout, enroute to the win.

Salata helped his own cause with two RBI's.

Herb Hofrenchall, Paul Yribery and Scott Babcock led the attack with two hits apiece.

Youth Tumbling Added to LYA Program

A tumbling class for both boys and girls will be offered youngsters between the ages of three and 12 by the Lafayette Youth Association starting July 8 at Agalanes High School. A registration fee of three dollars will cover the four-week course.

Classes will be conducted on Monday and Wednesday mornings. In addition, the LYA general recreation program is continuing in its first year. Teenagers still wishing to participate may do so by checking with Bob Hagler or George Cockerton any morning until noon.

General sessions are also held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, 7:30 until 9:30.

Included in the teenage program are such activities as basketball, volleyball, ping pong, weight lifting and open recreation.

This program in its initial year is steadily gaining in popularity.

Little League Showdown Game

Harry's Nursery moved into joint occupancy of first place when they edged Domestic Appliance, 6-5. Paul Nagy was the winning pitcher, as well as hitting the big blow of the game, a three-run homer.

Domestic bounced back to edge Pill Wagon, 1-0. Jamie Dacus was the winning pitcher.

OTHER MAJOR league action found Lafayette Sport Center downing Pill Wagon, 9-7. Bobby Smith was the winning pitcher.

Paul Shellenberg went four for five at the plate. Jeff Jones made a sparkling catch of a line shot at second base.

In the minors, California Peanut registered their first win, topping Claremont Hotel, 14-7. Paul Cardinet was on the mound for the victors. Denny Smith and Stewart Gage both hit homers.

Sale of Little League decals for funds for the improvement of the ball park continues.

Little League leadership, currently shared by Harry's Nursery and Domestic Appliance, will be determined Monday when the two clubs meet.

Both clubs share first place on the basis of identical 5-4 records. Strangely enough, the single-loss sustained by each club has been to each other.

WC Tigers Host Gaels In Semi-pro Game Sunday

Seeking to break a two-game losing streak, the Walnut Creek Tigers will take on the winless Lafayette Gaels Sunday on the Walnut Creek Civic Field diamond at 2 p.m.

The home run play proved to be the undoing of the Tigers in Sunday's contest with La Fiesta, as the local club came up on the short end of a 4-1 score.

La Fiesta broke fast, and tallied two runs in the first inning. However, in the third frame, the Tigers got one of the runs back and trailed only by a single marker.

Jim Botti was awarded first base after being hit by a pitched ball. Botti then proceeded to steal second. Pete Schneider then singled to bring Botti scampering across the plate.

This proved to be the extent of the offensive that the Tigers were able to mount.

The game remained undecided until the eighth frame. At this time, La Fiesta came up with back to back homers to add insurance to their victory margin.

It looked as this run would stand up, but trailing 2-1 in the bottom of the ninth, Tommy Alamano, Giant centerfielder, got a foot in the door when he was hit by a pitch. O'Toole moved the runner into scoring territory with a sacrifice. At this point, Joe McElroy, the old pro, bounced one over the first baseman's head to tie up the game.

Bud Beemer, the former Clayton Valley flash was safe on an error. He scored on a fielder's choice by Randy Thamen.

VAL SNOW, the Reb starter gave way to Bud Nelson in the sixth. Nelson was credited with the win.

For Sports and Games, Richie Nye was on the hill for a full nine innings. Although he was touched for 12 hits, Nye was able to stay out of serious trouble until the 10th. After putting two on, Bill Remy was inserted into the contest. On Remy's first pitch Ricoli got all the wood on it to wrap up the game.

Manager Mel Alamano of the Sports and Games Giants announced after the game that Denny Pilioti, a pitcher, would join the club. Pilioti played for Fresno State College during the past season.

Bob Kreider struck out 10 batters during his seven-inning tenure on the mound. Rich Bovo came on in relief in the eighth frame, and shut out the Alameda nine for the rest of the way.

Other CCC action found the Concord Rebels remaining on the top of the league by virtue of a 5-1 victory over the Lafayette Gaels. Rex Bankhead was the winning pitcher, throwing eight-hit ball.

Fitzpatrick Colts .45's edged by the Pleasant Hill Twins, 4-3, in a game played Sunday night under the lights at Pittsburg.

Upcoming action for this week finds the Colt .45's and La Fiesta slated to tangle on the Pittsburg diamond.

Both the Concord Rebels and the Pleasant Hill Twins have open dates. The Rebs will use their free time to travel to St. Helena for a game with the hometown club. The Twins will invade Petaluma for a contest with the Petaluma Twins.

The Tigers, who have consistently given away a considerable edge in experience, will have their mound staff at full strength for the first time this season.

Manager Perry Kreider announced that he tentatively planned to go with Larry Bradford in the starting role.

Only Three Undeclared Clubs in PH Baseball

With three weeks of play behind them, the Pleasant Hill Youth Baseball League can boast of but three undefeated teams.

Sherman Swim School members will compete tomorrow at Hayward for berths on the Northern team that will compete in the North-South Dual Diving Meet later this summer.

The Sherman team won first place for the third consecutive year in the Hayward Open Diving meet last weekend.

Norma Chandler and Janet Serley turned in excellent performances in capturing first place ribbons in their respective events.

Mike Sullivan of the Athens Athletic Club won the boys' 11 and 12-year classification.

Darlene Georgian of Lafayette, competing for Athens AC, was second in the senior women's diving.

Paige Peterson, Nancy Handlery and Patti Hodge completed a sweep of the top four places in the girls' 10 and under.

LYA Baseball Is 'Tight'

The elite circle of teams yet to taste defeat in the Lafayette Youth Association Baseball program has been reduced to four. The leagues reflect good balance throughout, as in no case is there more than a game separating the leaders from the pack.

MINOR LEAGUE Rheem Merchants retained their first place position, defeating Sun Valley Lumber 5-4. Links Appliance fell a half game off the pace, when they were held to a 6-6 tie by Dave's Nursery.

Lafayette Rental and Hardware slipped to .500 as they were defeated by Gaston's, 10-4. American National Insurance knocked Sports and Games off the pace, winning, 9-6. Emporium, climbed to the .500 mark, defeating Lincoln Enterprise, 14-2. Sun Valley salvaged a split on the week, edging Dave's Nursery, 8-7.

NATIONAL LEAGUE Orchard Nursery ran strong string of victories to five, downing Lincoln Enterprises, 8-5, and Moraga Lions, 3-2.

American National Insurance and Lafayette Lions battled to a 6-6 tie. The tie dropped the Lions out of a share of first place.

REAL Lynne Abbes Now Is Shown!

By H. K. Hancock

Like my old Dad told me many years ago, if you're going to make it, you've got to make it now.

The mistake is not to wait until you're old and gray to do it. You've got to do it now, while you're young and full of life.

For example, take last week. I was a VERY nice girl. I was a 14-year-old tennis champion from Orinda had won a title in the California State Junior Championships at San Jose. Consequently, I dutifully wrote that Lynne had won the 14-year title, and had been eliminated in the 16-year group. To enhance my coup, I located a picture in the Sun files of Lynne to run with the story.

Real great newspaper stuff. But then the trouble began. A Mrs. Abbes of Orinda phoned to offer congratulations on the story. Real good.

However, she went on to point out a couple of "minor" flaws with the account of what had happened at San Jose. First, Lynne had won the 16-year-old classification, defeating Rosemary Casals of San Francisco. It was in the 18-year age group that she had been eliminated.

Secondly, the picture was of Kate Ellis, not of Lynne.

Oh well, I guess you've got to expect losses.

SO, TO PUT things right, we dispatched a photographer post haste for Orinda, and went along to eat a king-size portion of crow.

Once we met Lynne, and received confirmation from her coach, Kevin Merrick, that it was truly the right Lynne Abbes, the anticipated ordeal became a very pleasant experience.

Lynne, a very gracious and poised teenager, was too elated with her recent victory over her nemesis, Rosemary Casals, to be mad at anyone.

In addition, she had registered a pair of outstanding conquests in the 16th annual Junior Hardcourt championships which concluded Sunday at the Peninsula Tennis Club at Burlingame.

SHE HAD WON the Girls 14 Singles title, defeating Patti Hogan of San Diego, 6-1, 6-0. Then, to top that performance, she breezed by Wendy Overton of Ormond Beach, Florida, 6-3, 6-0, for the Girls 16 championship.

Not a bad week's work for a gal that just turned 14.

It would probably be a good idea to remember the name, Lynne Abbes, as you'll probably be hearing a great deal of it for the next few years. This little lady has given every indication that she intends to land right in the middle of the national tennis picture.

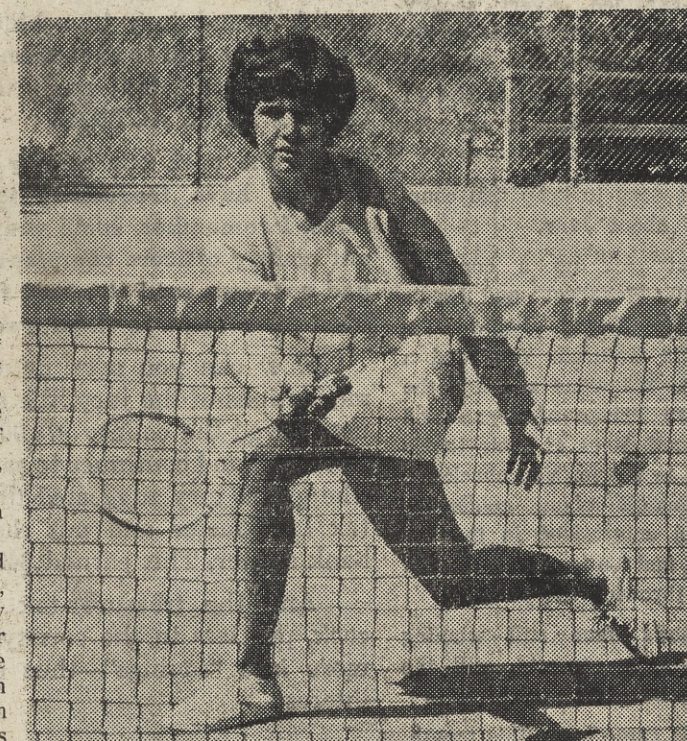

One of the first steps along this route comes this weekend when she takes off for Chattanooga, Tennessee, to compete in the National 14 Year Championships. Following this, she will move up to St. Louis to play in the Junior Invitationals. Next, her agenda calls for National Junior Championships at Lake Bluff, Illinois.

COMMENTING on her upcoming schedule, Lynne admitted, "Sure, I'm nervous. There will be a lot of good players in these tournaments. There's a Peaches Barwitz from Michigan that has won her age group for the past three or four years. That's a thrown into the maelstrom of real good player."

Following her invasion of the south and midwest, Lynne will return home and will spend the balance of the summer working on her game under the watchful eye of her coach.

Both Merrick and Lynne's parents are taking precautions not to bring her along too fast. She's been in classes several years her senior, but hasn't been

Dave Weill to Compete In US-USSR Track Meet

Dave Weill of Walnut Creek and NCAA discus champion will be on route to Moscow to participate in the United States-USSR track meet in Moscow.

Weill is traveling in group that is under the direction of Stanford coach, Payton Jordan. First stop will be Moscow for the International Meet, July 2-3.

The group will then move up to Helsinki, Finland, for the World Meet, July 4-5.

A FINAL tuneup for the USA-USSR meet will come at Cologne, Germany, on July 14. The entire USA team will then converge on Moscow.

Following the meet with the Soviets, meets with the Polish, West German and English teams have been scheduled.

Weill, one of the outstanding Las Lomas graduates, was recently honored at the Stanford Awards banquet when he was presented with four trophies.

For the first time in Stanford history, a single man won the Dink Templeton Award for the Most Outstanding Weightman, the Al Masters Scholastic Athlete honor, Stanford University AAUW Athlete trophy, and the Irving Zeimer Memorial for the most inspirational track and field athlete.

WEILL, an electrical engineering major, plans to continue his studies at Stanford, working for his Masters Degree. Thus, he'll be able to continue his track work, and make a bid for a berth on the 1964 Olympic team.

His best official discus throw was 193 feet, but did get a 196-foot toss off, only to have turned down because of a slight slope in the field at UCLA.

Orinda Summer League to Move into Home Stretch

Orinda Summer League Baseball action moved toward its July 11 completion highlighted by two freakish contests.

The Rams and Badgers of the Peanut League, Division I, scored 49 runs between them with the former squeaking by 25-24.

In the other Peanut League circuit, the Bombers and Rebels couldn't push anyone across and settled for a 0-0 standoff.

The Rangers steamrolled over the Raiders, battering their parade of pitchers for 17 runs. John Thomas and Jim Barkley teamed up to blank the Raiders in a no-hitter.

little more forceful. I'd like to go to the net more.

She admits she has no particular favorites among the players in the general area. She admires Jane Albert, the Carmel lass presently campaigning in Europe. She would like to play the same type of game that Jane does.

Which shouldn't present too large a problem, as this gal really belts the ball.

She's already won four tournaments this year, with the biggest ones coming up. The competition figures to be real tough.

One thing, we're not betting against her. And we've got some pictures of Lynne stashed away for future use.

Oh, be sure you add the "e" to Lynne.

Hot Races Mark WC Jr Leagues

By J. C. McElroy

In contrast to the cool weather that has prevailed, the penultimate races in the Walnut Creek Junior Baseball League began to heat up.

Moving into the second half of the schedule, only five teams in Coast League have records. Latest upset victim, was the Army Navy entry in the Coast League. The upset was staged by Meet 'n Eat, their second performance this season in the role of giant killer.

The National League clash tomorrow between WCYAA and the Tigers should prove to be the highlight of this week's action.

COAST LEAGUE
Hitting by Bobby Corbett, Mark Perbix and Jim Cassani and fielding by Ronnie Coleman and Chipper Allen boosted the Cubs to a 10-9 victory over the Kiwanis Club.

Meet 'n Eat proved once again to be the giant killers of the Coast League as they knocked Army-Navy from the unbeaten ranks, 12-6. Larry Lister was the winning pitcher. Home runs by Dave Reid, Bobby Burns and Lister contributed to the win.

Loray Market jumped on W.C. Sheet Metal, 12-1. Paul Ross showed strength at the plate for Loray.

Sandra Joy scored in the fourth and fifth to edge Davis Donuts, 2-1. Danny Seefield and Gary Spitzack shared the pitching for Sandra Joy, aided by two fine plays from Gary Couch at third base. Bobby Douglas pitched well for Davis Donuts.

Sports & Games defeated WCYAA 8-5 aided by Steve Pina's bases loaded triple.

Air Force Falcons continued their hot hitting streak, bombing General Office, 35-7. Chris Meecham, and Ned Rowley belted out a pair of homers each. Brian Goy impressed in his stint on the mound, and has shown great improvement.

A&W Root Beer remains the only undefeated team in the Coast League after a 10-5 victory over the Elks Club. The pitching of Mike Croso and Ricky Staudt plus the hitting of Mark Chapman led A&W to victory. Chapman hit a three-run homer. Contributing timely hits were Steve Balling, Croso, Staudt, Kenny Bolin, Dave Roberts and Gary Booth. Kevin Odell and Gary Belknap provided the Elks Club with a very good battery.

Gary Leroy, Robert Laverty, David Luoma and Neil Reese all combined their pitching talents to lift Reliable Finance to an 11-3 victory over Stevenson Electronics.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE
Steve Hickey provided the big number for McDonnell Nursery as they downed Foremost Dairies, 13-10. Hickey drove in five runs with two singles and a triple, in addition to handling the pitching duties. Cliff Grafius sparked on defense.

Devin Harris, Hendrick Piano pitcher, had things pretty much his own way baffling the W.C. Aggregates in a no-hit, 10-2, conquest.

Gil Aschom Rambler exploded for 15 runs in the top half of the seventh inning to defeat McDonnell Nursery 25-11. At the end of regulation time the score was knotted at 10 all. Rodd Lindberg, winning pitcher, aided his own cause with a bases loaded double. Lance Willis made a spectacular catch in center field for the turning point of the game.

Norm Robinson rolled to its fourth victory in a row, downing Diablo Cleaners, 15-3. Eric Bowen, the winning pitcher, contributed three hits, including a double. John Staudt collected a triple for the Chevrolemen. For the Cleaners, Jim Thiele played a very good defensive game. John Dunlap collected a triple. Gene Spencer Service felt the effects of vacation as they were not able to field a full team against Clifford Electric and had to forfeit.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Lee Hammond and Mike Thompson collected three hits each. Ted Crawford provided the pitching, and Daryl Smith made the fielding gem of the night as W.C. Savings romped over Parker-Robb, 23-8. Doug Flaner with two triples and Randy Nobles with two for three for Parker-Robb.

Schroder Insurance, after collecting its first win last week, tore past Berkeley Farms, 13-7. Roger Bloom was winning pitcher.

Hull's Chapel defeated Russ Barber Shop 16-6. Glenn Robb aided by Steve Flynn and Bert Steele received credit for the win.

Jim Looney pitched WCYAA to its fifth straight victory as they edged Jack's Meats 6-4. Ronnie Douglass collected the big blow for the league leaders as he was credited with a two-run homer. GALLEW TWO—HOT RACES

Gary Brooks and Jim Dungey stroked timely singles. The Tigers paced by pitching of Bill Gearhart rolled to a 26-25 win over the Lions Club. David Coleman of the Lions Club collected the game's only home run.

PIONEER LEAGUE

The Optimist Cubs downing Medical Arts Pharmacy, behind the 13 strikeout hurling of Jim Huff, by 13-2. Huff slammed a triple, as did Chris Davis. Mark Laakso collected two hits for the Cubs. Rick Brannum and John Loferty had the only two hits for the Pharmacy.

Richard Lillian stroked a bases loaded double to drive in two runs, enabling Simon's to tie the W.C. Giants at 5 all. Mark Boman pitched for the Giants.

The Optimist Cardinals, suffering from vacationitis, forfeited to the league leading Optimist Cubs to complete the week's schedule.

WESTERN LEAGUE

Lupul Market hot on the heels of the pace-setting Burton Nursery club edged the WCYAA 4-3, behind the pitching of Chuck Budde.

Burton Nursery took the measure of the Bullets, 11-6. Bobby Buck hit a homer over the center field fence, and Doug Swanson collected a double and single. Mark Ford and Jeff Keating each got two singles for Burtons. Andy Schatz and Bill Hayden collected extra base blows for Bullets.

The Walnut Bowl broke open a 5-5 tie with five runs in the last inning and then held off a comeback by Marshall Realtors, to come out on the long end of a 10-8 count.

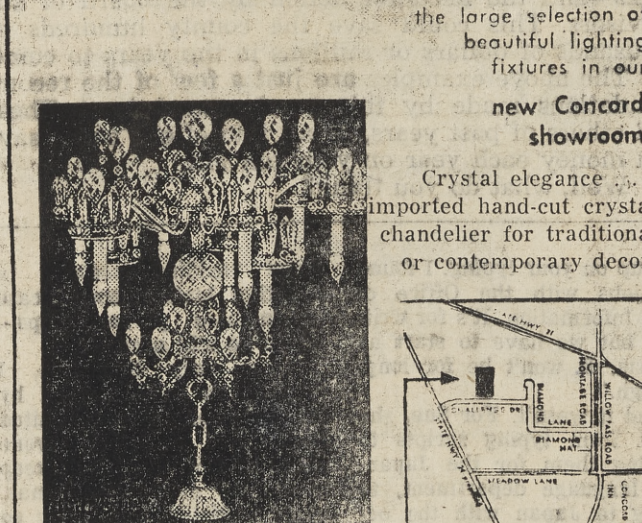

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Central Firemen, after leading 8-2, was held to a tie with a Richmond Legion, at 8-8. Gary Ford pitched for the Firemen.

Costello Industrial Laundry traveled to Acalanes Thursday only to taste defeat at the hands of the Acalanes Legion club, 7-2.

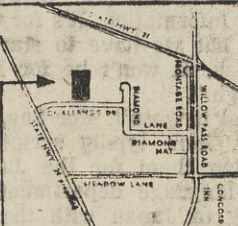

Pete Breuleux's two run homer led to the Central Firemen to a 4-3 victory over Costello Laundry. Breuleux also handled the pitching chores for the Firemen.

New Law Hot Off the Press

There is no justification for "emergency" legislation unless the legislators involved have either exhausted all avenues of approach to the matter at hand or are able to demonstrate existence of clear and present danger demanding the new law.

The recent emergency amendment to "clarify" the county building code by the board of supervisors is an example of haste in this area—which may lead in turn to a more dangerous situation of government by court trial.

The county's move to stiffen fire regulations in its code came after the board found no other way to stop a contractor from obtaining a building permit for an apartment in Rheem.

We're not building or fire regulation experts. And we recognize the fact that the county must rely on the opinions of those they hire as experts. But when that "expert opinion" comes into serious question in a matter which can affect building costs to homeowners throughout Contra Costa, study—not hasty law—is required.

It may well be that both the board and its building expert are right in this matter—but good government demands that they are not right by fiat.

Action is good but only when it's based upon thorough, complete study.

As a result of any hasty legislation, taxpaying citizens are forced into expensive and lengthy court proceedings to plead their case.

And government by litigation is both unjust and wasteful if a citizen is forced to this last resort without adequate consideration of other remedies.

Public Officials Need Not Resign

For a long time The Sun has pointed out why a school trustee should in the best interest of the community he serves be most alert as to the time he resigns, if he finds it necessary to do so.

If he's completing his term of office but is not running for re-election, then other persons seek his post.

This is the way it should be—where a mandate of the people sweeps the victor into yeoman public service.

BUT IF a school trustee resigns after an election his fellow members of the board pick his successor.

This sets up an ideal situation for a school board to hand-pick its own man or woman.

A proviso of the State Education Code states that between certain dates a school board can appoint a person to a position held by the resigned incumbent.

THE NEW appointee then serves until election time. If he wins, he serves throughout the remainder of the unexpired term of the person whom he succeeded.

This procedure gives other persons a chance to compete for the position, too.

People who serve on such important groups as school boards and other districts are to be commended by their fellow citizens. They give much time, long hours, and hard work to their community.

But they have a duty, too, to be most judicious as to whether or not they'll run for re-election or the date that they're going to resign.

Park Action Required Now

We find it hard to understand why members of the county board of supervisors are dragging their heels in getting a park program study under way.

Such a study is needed immediately. The longer we wait the worse off we're going to be.

TO US, the Grand Jury's recommendation that we join the East Bay Regional Park District sounds completely logical.

The park district is an efficiently operated one. Many benefits would accrue to residents of Contra Costa County.

The Sun further agrees with the Grand Jury that a five-cent tax rate in the budget would get the county started on a "pay-as-you-go" program.

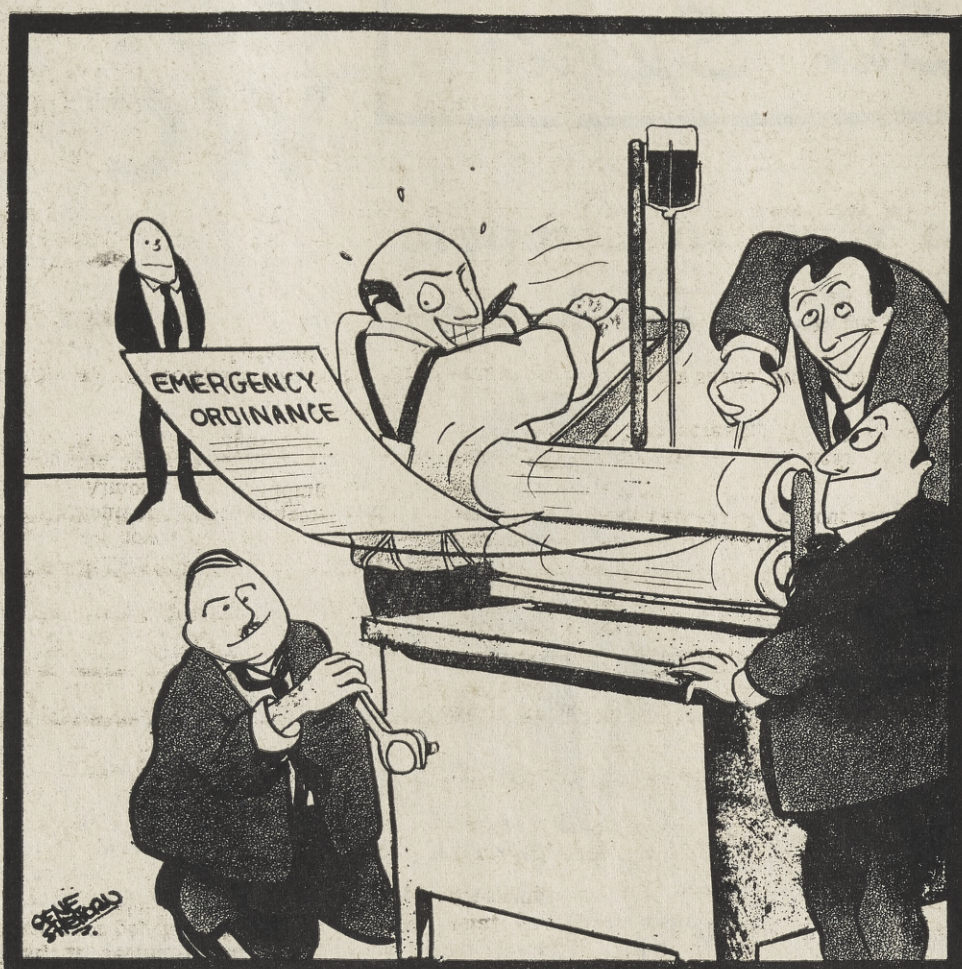

THE LONGER we wait the faster the necessary land is going to be gobbled up by private interests. We can't let that happen.

So let's get started with a study based on the Grand Jury's recommendations.

"I see you've been cutting cheese on my tyre again."

Letters to The Editor

A SACRAMENTO VISIT

EDITOR:

I have just returned from Girls' State at the University of California at Davis as a representative of Alameda High School. I enjoyed very much attending meetings and lectures on city, county and state governments. Also the tours of the capitol and Supreme Court were interesting.

My parents are Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Dodge, and I reside at 3812 Happy Valley Road, Lafayette.

COUNTY PARKS

EDITOR:

Before endorsing the Grand Jury's suggestion that Contra Costa County be annexed to the East Bay Regional Park District, I'm wondering if you have paid a visit to any of the EBRD parks.

If William Mott (manager of the parks) is one of the county's top park men he's got something to learn about them. If the county puts in its own park system I'm hoping he has nothing to do with it.

This sounds like a "give-away" program to me. The county would be paying for improvements to the EBRPD which it certainly needs and would receive little if any benefit in return.

GAS STATIONS

EDITOR:

I am writing to you about the photo of the closed Mobil gas station on Mt. Diablo Boulevard in Lafayette that you ran in the June 21st issue.

First, it seems to me that you use poor psychology in your campaign against gas stations. I agree that policy should lead you to "deplore" each new gas station—but every time there is a vacant, obsolete gas station such as the one shown you should seize this as an opportunity for the owner to convert it to a new building in keeping with a growing Lafayette. You shouldn't miss your opportunities.

Second, you are—or claim to be—meticulous about keeping editorial content out of the news columns. So how come you put editorial content in your photographs? Almost any building looks worse when you print it backwards and the signs look funny.

A WORD GONE WRONG

Dear Mr. Silverman:

In your article about Bali, you wrote of the "rice patties."

I must respectfully submit the following:

From Webster's Collegiate Dictionary:—"patty, n; pl. patties. A little pie or pastry baked in a small pan."

"Paddy, n. (Malay, padi.) . . . a field in which rice is grown."

This I knew; also from a year spent in Manila, but I checked in Webster for you, just to be certain.

NAME WITHHELD BY REQUEST

We Like It Here . . . Songs of summertime my Mother never taught me

By MARIE MONAHAN

"I ASKED my mother for fifty cents/To see the elephant jump the fence/He jumped so high/He reached the sky./And never came back till the Fourth of July."

From the sidewalks of New York to the city blocks of San Francisco, children have been chanting their own language since time memorial.

And the riddles, rhymes & jingles invented by each generation contribute to the fascinating folklore of our country. . . .

LIKE a cluster of firecrackers exploding, the vernacular of the Very Young overheard on a sultry summer's night, sets off a spark—for more of the memorable colloquies of another day.

Still common to the little ones is "Knife & Fork! Bottle & Cork! That's the way to spell New York!" But if you ever figure out why, let me know.

Remember "Tommy's it/And caught a fit, And don't know how/To get over it!" . . . "Marguerite, go wash your feet. The Board of Health is 'cross the street."

Or . . . "Do you like jelly? Punch in the belly!" & "Do you like gravy? Punch in the navy!"

FOR counting out, the New England rhymes still go the rounds with Eeny, meeny, miney, mo set . . .

1,2,3,4,5,6,7,8/Mary sat on the garden gate,/Eating plums right off a plate/1,2,3,4,5,6,7,8.

AND 1,2,3,4,5,6,7,/All good children go to heaven.

Or "Monkey, monkey, bottle of beer, How many monkeys are there here? 1, 2, 3 . . . You are he (she)."

SUMMERTIME is ripe for catches & riddles. . . . Who doesn't remember "Where was Moses when the light went out? Under the bed eating sauerkraut."

"April's gone, summer's gone; You're a fool and I am none!"

"I climbed up the apple tree/And all the apples fell on me./Make a pudding, make a pie./Did you ever tell a lie?/Yes, you did, you know you did,/You stole your mother's teapot lid."

"Way Back When, if you had a red-haired brother you rooted him home with—"Red-headed sinner, Come home to dinner". . . .

When a boy got mad at another, he'd sometimes call out derisively:—"Paddy Whacker, chew tobacco, If he dies, it is no matter."

AND what was the rest of "Hacker, Packer, Soda Cracker"? Out goes you?

WE all teased with Georgie, Porgy, Puddin' & Pie who kissed the girls & made them cry. . . .

And there was "Joe, Joe, Broke his toe, Riding on a Buffalo."

And "Bert, Bert tore his shirt, Riding on a lump of dirt." Frank, Frank, Turned the Crank, His mother came out and gave him a spank."

WHEN it came time to part company, who knows but that "Goodnight, sleep tight, Don't let the bedbugs bite" wasn't the forerunner of "See you later, Alligator". . . .

A sing-song political couplet that had its hey-day in the dim past was "Republican rats, take off your hats, And make way for the Democrats."

AT PICNICS, you sometimes still hear the whoops & whollers of "I scream, You scream, We all scream for ice cream."

Or "Lemonade, Made in the shade, Stirred with a spade, By an old maid."

But hardly ever this favorite oldie, tsk, tsk . . . "Oh, oh, what's the use . . . of chewing tobacco & spitting the juice?"

IF JUMP ROPES haven't gone out of style completely, you might hear this rope-skipping rhyme: "Ice cream soda, lemonade pop; Tell me the initials of your sweetheart." (The letters of the alphabet are called until there is a miss.)

HAVEN'T got a jump rope handy, but these still suit me dandy . . . "I love coffee, I love tea, How many boys are stuck on me?"

"Raspberry, strawberry, cherry pie; You love them all and so do I." (Yes, no, maybe so, until a miss.)

"Charlie Chaplin sat on a pin; How many inches did it go in?" (one, two, three, etc. . . .)

AND FOR a little elbow room along the sidewalk route: "Two's a couple, Three's a crowd. Four on the sidewalk is never allowed."

"Fire, fire," said Mrs. Maguire . . . "Where, where," said Mrs. O'Hare. "Downtown," said Mrs. Brown, etcetera . . . etcetera . . . etcetera.

THIS could go on forever. So I'll just sign off with "Yours till Niagara Falls. . . ."

Staff Corner Under The Sun

Whatever Happened To Them?

By BERNICE SCHARLACH

Last week's Staff Corner written by Jane Putnam about when she was in high school unleashed a torrent of "I Remember" for me, too. Especially about two Most Likely to Succeeds—and how they did.

You didn't even need a crystal ball twenty-odd years ago to tell that Jane Davis, the most popular—and prettiest—gal in the class was bound to make good somewhere. With her looks, good humor and her nutty, carefree attitude, what did it matter if she wasn't a great-brain type? She'd make it, no doubt about it. . . .

Then there was Sue Tivol. Anyone who was that much of an odd-ball was destined for success, too. Just a question of where. You couldn't be that bright, that stubborn, that much of a non-conformist and not have it all add up to something!

Well, both gals came home this month to their native city and they both—sure enough—were celebrities. Both gals made good in a big way in, of all places, Tokyo, and both of them did it in exactly the way you could predict—given the gift of hindsight.

Jane's arrival home was well-heralded. Every society paper in San Francisco marked the return of Mrs. Richard Rees, international social leader, member of the Jet Set.

It's easy to keep "au courant" about Jane.

You pick up a copy of "House Beautiful" and Jane's Pacific Heights home-in-Tokyo is featured. You read a sports magazine and find the Crown Prince of Japan and Richard Rees at their tennis club in Tokyo. You check the columnists about celebrities being entertained in the Orient, and ten to one the Reeses are throwing the party.

That's Jane still winning popularity contests, still the class beauty. . . .

Sue came home this month, too. But only her close friends were informed. Those she requested to see were invited to a cocktail party for Mrs. David Seldwin-Tait, on brief leave from the U. S. State Department in Washington.

Sue was never one to make a big fuss over anything. Funny how I found out about her being awarded the Freedom Medal. I didn't even know what the Freedom Medal was, except that I did read somewhere that John Foster Dulles had one, also.

One day about nine years ago when I was sorting a floor-full of messy diapers and trying to arbitrate a screaming fight between a five and a six year old, the doorbell rang. A gentleman who flashed a very official government card said he would like some information about my friend, Susan Tait. She was being considered for a top job in the State Department, he said, and he wanted to ask me some questions about her. Did I know she was awarded the Freedom Medal by President Eisenhower? This civilian equivalent to the Medal of Honor was given to her for her work in Tokyo.

What sort of a friend was she, he wanted to know.

I thought about the gal I had known since high school. The state junior tennis champion that I couldn't ever win a set against . . . I thought of her mom who always called her "Susan Fay" and constantly despaired of her daughter who would not take the proper interest in her clothes or her hair or in dating high school boys.

I thought of the gal who moved out of her plush sorority house to live at International House at the Berkeley campus so she could be around "interesting, worthwhile people."

I thought of the day she phoned and said "Start brush-

Your Tax Bill Too High? Well, Then, Read This

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

Do you moan each year when you receive your county tax bill?

Some taxpayers scream, tear their hair and/or bang their heads against the wall. Others have learned to take it more philosophically. Still others grab the phone or write a letter, asking "What can we do about this?"

The Sun points the spotlight on our governmental activities and how they affect taxes—all year around and not just at tax time. We constantly emphasize the need to be informed and to use our vote effectively.

Watchdog of Martinez

But, in addition to the newspaper spotlight and your vote, a most effective and important watchdog is the county grand jury. The 19 men and women are selected each year to serve a year. They represent you. The jury, composed of citizens residing throughout the county, can be a most powerful influence on county government (as well as other governmental units such as the various districts).

What should you do if you have information or an unresolved problem affecting the county? You can document your material and turn it over to the grand jury, by letter or in person.

What can be done about taxes?

Take a look at what the 1962-63 grand jury has done this past year. The Sun carried comprehensive stories and editorials on their various reports. This jury has done a wonderful job—and is continuing to do more. They have even asked to be allowed to continue some of the studies, even though their term is up this summer.

They need YOUR help . . .

What can be done about taxes? Support the efforts of this grand jury to achieve more efficient county government and to save money. How? Tell your elected county officials to study the jury's recommendation and TO TAKE ACTION.

In the past, our county officials, elected and appointed, have frequently ignored the recommendations. I remember, some years ago, when two important county officers commented to The Sun that they had not even read the jury report, even though it had been distributed to them weeks before.

How can you save taxes? Acting on the recommendations of the jury, the county tax collector-treasurer saved the county $78,000 between December and last April and continues to save about $280 daily. How? The grand jury suggested that the office staff process tax bills faster and put the tax payments into the bank sooner. This earned $41,750 in added interest.

And the treasurer-tax collector, Emmet Hitchcock, put less in the county's "checking account and more into "savings"—thus earning $36,125 in added interest.

Even more savings . . .

The jury is urging that even less money be put into the "demand" accounts. The total savings annually could amount to $220,000—which means less taxes for you.

The jury charges that Contra Costa is favoring veterans with improperly-granted tax exemptions—and the favor is costing the "ordinary" taxpayers about $275,000 per year.

The jury has asked that the county hire a bona fide insurance consultant to review the county's insurance annually. This is now being done by the very broker who sells the county its insurance.

The jury questions the office and clerical expense of some of our supervisors. They also are not satisfied with the travel expenses of county employees and consultants, although they did not criticize the supervisors' travel bills.

In the editorial column, you will note comments about the grand jury's recommendations on county parks—and the need for action by the board of supervisors. This could save the county hundreds of thousands of dollars or millions in the years to come.

The above examples are just a few of the recommendations made by this year's grand jury. These and others of past years, if put into effect, could save you money each year on your tax bill.

Well, what do you think?

ing up on your typing. I found us jobs with the Office of War Information. It's for writers, but we have to start as typists. It won't be for long, though."

And it wasn't. For Sue, she went from typing scripts to writing them for the Japanese language department, going to Japan with the occupation forces. It was there that she met and married Col. Seldwin-Tait, a man whose intelligence and charm and understanding changed her from a strong-willed girl to a mature, charming young woman.

By this time, I, too, was married and she endeared herself to my husband by tossing a "Seminar on Sex" to me the same night as my future groom's Bachelor Party, and 2-giving us what my husband called our finest wedding present: a beautiful leather bound case of initialed porker chips—which he still uses.

How very like Sue, I thought, to be decorated by the President of the United States and not tell anyone about it! How like her to keep in touch every Christmas, every birthday, and never go into any detail of what she was doing.

"Is she the type of person you'd entrust your country to?" the man from the government closed his questioning with.

Is she! I couldn't think of a finer one—nor, I'm sure could my husband!

Two most likely to succeed . . . In the State Department's Southeast Asian Affairs department and in the Jet Set's Far East Asia Social Affairs department. . . .

Deltas Raise Money For Therapy Center

Teenager's concern for the handicapped was further evidenced this week as the Delta unit of Mt. Diablo Therapy Center, a junior service group at Acalanes High School, turned over a check for $450 to Therapy Center officials.

Sponsored by the Lafayette Larks, a senior unit of the Center, this group of 38 juniors and seniors raised the money through a variety of activities.

"We washed cars, collected refundable bottles and sold candy," said Kit Peabody, Delta president for the past year. With Shari Chatenay as chairman, a successful fashion show was staged at Concord Inn. Fathers were included in a fund-raising father-daughter dinner. A pot luck supper and a dance helped raise a portion of the money.

Mrs. Charles Franklin, advisor to the Deltas, stressed the hard work and effort put forth by the girls on their own free time. "All the planning, organizing and work was done by the girls themselves," she said. "They have shown an awareness of their responsibilities to their community and have performed a real service."

Linda Bergemann will serve as president of the Deltas next year.

Swim Parties Are Treat For Juvenile Hall Kids

For the third summer, the Juvenile Hall Auxiliary members in the Orinda-Lafayette area are providing weekly swim-and-refreshment parties for the children from Edgar Cottage at the Juvenile Hall in Martinez.

This is part of the summer program of outside activities for the summer months, annually sponsored by the entire Auxiliary which includes also roller-skating and bowling.

This week, the children enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Denis O'Connor of La Espiral for their swim, with Mrs. David Collamer and Mrs. Stuart Henderson helping with transportation and hostess duties.

Mrs. Dorothy Spott's home was recently also the center for their "pool party." On that occasion, Mrs. Arthur Umpleby and Mrs. Henderson assisted.

Since many of the children have had no previous opportunity to learn to swim, any person willing to help in this would be welcome, according to Mrs. Henderson. The "swims" are held every Friday afternoon at privately-owned pools.

Please contact Mrs. Henderson 254-3592 for information.

Yesterday, special for the Fourth of July, the entire Edgar Cottage section (neglected children) was brought to Lafayette where they were given a barbecue and swim party at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lindh and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Helbush.

AN EXCELLENT RECREATION FACILITY—This design shows how Lafayette Reservoir could be transformed into a public park facility, if and when the county ever obtains the land from the East Bay Municipal Utility District. Swimming would not be allowed but there would be boating, picnic areas, and trails for hiking and horseback riding. The reservoir would be included in the county park program, now being studied by the board of supervisors. A "pay-as-you-go" program is being considered.

MEDALLIONS FOR THREE—There was cash, too, in the awards made by (on left) Berkeley Savings and Loan Association Vice President Harold L. Gilgan and First Savings and Loan Vice President William R. Martin to these three area students: Julie Bauer (Acalanes), Stephen Cantrill (Miramonte), and Robert Crooks (Las Lomas) were among 19 in the county honored by the California Savings and Loan League and local associations. —Ted Gurney photo

Don't Watch Eclipse, You Are Warned

In the interest of sight conservation, Mrs. Kay Dorris, Lafayette School District Health Consultant, advises parents and children on the dangers of watching the eclipse of the sun, July 20.

It will be seen only as a partial eclipse in Northern California, but will be a total eclipse in Canada and Alaska.

Permanent partial loss of vision has occurred in large numbers of people, especially children, who have watched an eclipse. There are children in Lafayette schools with partial vision loss as a result of watching an eclipse.

Mrs. Dorris referred to a statement issued by Dr. Oliver E. Byrd, head of the Department of Health Education at Stanford University, who issued a stern warning against the searing effects of watching an eclipse to school personnel in Alameda County.

He warned that watching an eclipse is dangerous even though photographic film, sun glasses, or smoked glasses are used. "The best protection is not to watch it," reported Dr. Byrd.

Suburbia Today to Be In Suns Next Week

Next week's Lafayette, Orinda, Walnut Creek and Pleasant Hill Suns will feature the monthly edition of Suburbia Today.

Amy Vanderbilt gives her light-hearted account of successful (and not so successful) parties she has given and attended in "What Makes a Party?"

OMER JOHNSON tells how Kettering, Ohio, has solved the problem of over-competitiveness in junior baseball in "Every-one Plays Ball in This Little League."

A boy may never be a Roger Maris, but in Kettering he can learn what baseball is all about and begin his happy life as a fan.

Four pavilions on a hilltop make one "Unusual Suburban Home" for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pence of Mill Valley. The pavilions were photographed as an example of an unusual and attractive way of suburban living.

WHY DO some gardens thrive while others fail on the same amount of water? What makes soil more susceptible to water? And what is the best time to water?

These are some of the questions garden editor John Brimer answers in "How Much Water in the Garden Is Enough?"

Food editor Melanie De Proff has prepared some spicy Kai-seki Tyori (party dishes to you) that could make any meat-and-potato man take his knife and fork for a pair of chopsticks.

"DIRT FARMER" is the subject of a special cartoon strip—and strange to say he looks familiar enough to be your neighbor.

"If You Are Having a Baby You Are Right in Fashion This Year." In the new maternal fashions, set off with the right accessories in this issue of Suburbia Today, mothers-to-be will look not only radiant but just as smart as their temporarily slendered friends.

These are a few of the reasons why you should be sure and have a copy of the coming Suburbia Today enclosed in your Sun newspapers.

Easter Seal Society Needs Teen Volunteers

The Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Contra Costa County announces that there will be many volunteer opportunities during the summer months for teenagers who wish to be of service to handicapped persons.

At least more teenage volunteers are needed to assist at the summer nursery school program for physically handicapped children at Christina B. Cameron School which started Monday. It ends August 1.

Volunteers, who must be at least 15 years of age, will assist the teacher in music, games, story telling, and playground activities. They will accompany the children on field trips, and have opportunity to observe occupational and physical therapy sessions.

TEENAGERS, 16 years of age and older, who like to work in arts and crafts, and outdoor games, may apply for service as camp aides at the Easter Seal-Richmond Recreation Department Day Camp for handicapped children to be held in Eucalyptus Grove during the week of August 19 through 23. Applicants must be available daily for the entire week between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 2 p.m.

The opportunity to practice clerical skills and learn new ones will be afforded youth volunteers who sign up as office aides at headquarters of the Easter Seal Society of Contra Costa County, 240 Sixth Street, Richmond. The minimum age for clerical aides is 14.

Office aides will do filing, type reports, address envelopes, and fold and prepare materials for mailing. Those who have learned short hand will have opportunities for practicing dictation taking in performing routine secretarial work for the professional staff of the Easter Seal Society.

Mrs. Ardis V. Loonie, Executive Director of the Easter Seal Society of Contra Costa County, said that further information concerning youth volunteer activities, application forms, and orientation sessions may be obtained by writing Easter Seal headquarters, 240 South Sixth Street, Richmond, or by calling.

More information on the liberalized improvement loan policy can be had at the office of the Division of Farm and Home Purchases, Department of Veterans Affairs in Oakland or San Francisco.

More Cash for Landscaping At Boys Ranch

A park-like pond in the midst of the Boys Ranch of Contra Costa's Boys Ranch Creek area. Boys at the ranch themselves helped design the attractive pool for juvenile delinquents will be augmented by further landscaping through the efforts of the Diablo Women's Club of the Walnut Creek area.

Over $300 was donated for construction of the lily pond and pool at the Byron facility in Success of the first venture.

has prompted the ladies to a second contribution. Representatives recently handed Superintendent Lendrum a check for $389.40 to continue the landscaping project.

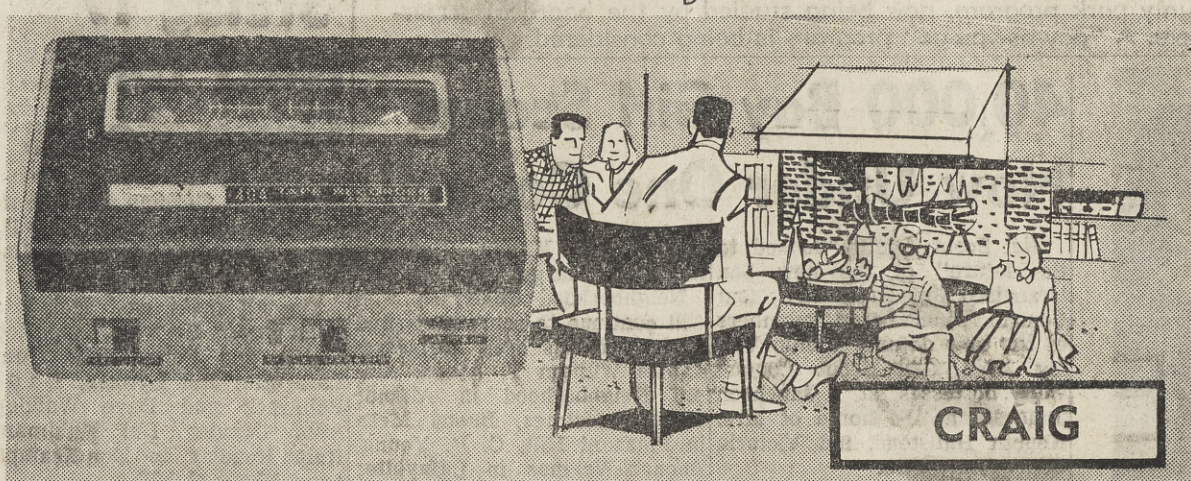

Mrs. Charles W. Dennis, president of the gardening group, and Mrs. Milton R. Bell, chairman of the landscape project, visited the ranch to present the check and discuss landscape plans with staff worker Bruce Williams, who will supervise the work.

Superintendent Lendrum said the landscaping provides an integral part of the boys' work program and creates more attractive premises as well.

Girls: Here's Chance For Fame and Fortune

Young girls, 17 years of age or older, never married, and residing in Contra Costa County are invited to compete in the Fair Maid of Contra Costa County contest at the State Fair August 18.

The Soroptimist Club of Antioch, Mrs. Zoe Raines, president is sponsoring this year's search for the county's "Fair Maid."

Contestants will be judged strictly on the Fair Maid of California rules for beauty, poise and personality, and will be reviewed in gown and swimsuit by a panel of qualified judges from the bay area.

Intermission entertainment will be provided by the "Sweet Adelines," a women's singing barbershop group and by "The Spectacles," a folk singing trio from San Francisco.

The winner will receive a cash award, a wardrobe, the coveted crown and title, and as the county's Fair Maid, will represent Contra Costa County at the State Fair.

Entry blanks may be obtained at the County Fairgrounds, P.O. Box 25, Antioch, or at the various offices of Commerce of- fices or from Soroptimist Club members.

The final date for entry is July 15, so all girls wishing to enter competition are urged to make proper application early. Complete list of rules and agenda will be mailed to all interested persons.

Sun Classified Contest to Give Free Air Trips

Two free roundtrip airtickets to Los Angeles are offered as the first prize in The Sun Classified Contest.

Sun advertisers already know that big dividends result from classified ads placed in the four Sun papers and the 59,000 circulation Sun Shopping News.

Roselle Anderson, Sun Classified manager, announced that the air trips are the biggest prizes yet offered.

HERE'S HOW it works: There are two contests, one for commercial advertisers, one for general advertisers.

Mrs. Anderson will draw the winners from all entrants whose ads appear by July 26.

The size of the ad makes no difference in the contest. You can run as many ads as you wish. Each ad counts as an entry.

If you are placing a commercial ad, The Sun sales representative who calls on you will explain the contest in more detail.

If yours is a general ad The Sun ad writers will enter you in the contest upon your request.

SUBSCRIBERS to any of The Sun newspapers will receive an extra entry with their ad.

The ads may appear any time between now and July 27.

Mrs. Anderson will select the winners at 4 p.m. July 27 in the office of the Walnut Creek Sun, 1320 Locust Street, Walnut Creek.

Condon to Attend Lawyer Meeting On Civil Rights

Robert L. Condon, president of the Contra Costa Bar Association, will attend a meeting of bar association leaders to work out a solution of civil rights problems in local communities to be held in San Francisco Tuesday.

William P. Gray, president of the state bar association, said he was calling the meeting (as well as two others in other regions of the state) at the request of President Kennedy.

Gray said, "After hearing the presentation by the President, the vice-president, and the attorney general, all of us in attendance were convinced that the civil rights problem does indeed require serious and immediate attention."

"It is a problem that must be faced in every state and virtually every community."

Love Back In First Place Here

The annual June boom in matrimony brought a bumper crop of brides to Contra Costa altars last month, setting new connubial records here.

A record 261 marriage licenses were issued in the last month by Contra Costa County Clerk's offices in Richmond and Martinez.

The figure represented 29 more having and holding couples than the previous high in 1961.

Clerks in both offices may have complained a bit at the rush which ended at 5 p.m. last Friday, but it was clear Cupid was just trying to hold his own.

Until recent months, divorces in this county have exceeded marriages for the last several years.

Penney's Brings Desert Caravan To Broadway

Penney's will feature a touch of desert life starting next week when it welcomes a caravan to town.

The caravan will arrive Monday in the form of Penney's traveling fall coat caravan, according to Carl Putz, store manager.

It will be at the store about 12 days, offering fashion-conscious women an opportunity to choose from a wide selection of fall coats.

"Penney's 1963 version of a caravan will give women here a chance to choose fall coat wardrobes from as complete and economical a selection as any shown in larger fashion centers," said Putz.

He explained that Penney's is repeating the caravan this year because the two previous efforts were so well received.

Most of the coats will feature fur-trimmed collars of natural mink, natural blue fox, dyed squirrel, natural raccoon, bleached wolf or dyed fox.

Most fall colors are expected to be brown and wild rice along with black. Red is making a strong bid for favor this season, Putz said. Coats will come in misses, junior and junior petite sizes.

The caravan will remain here until July 20 before moving on.

The Penney manager pointed out that all coats in the caravan may be purchased on credit or layaway plans.

A Billion-Dollar County: Assessor

Public and private property in Contra Costa will have an assessable value of over $1 billion dollars by the time the year is out.

County Assessor E. E. Wanaka told the board of supervisors Tuesday that a $65 million gain for the year—largest in county history—would make a total of $1,041,000,000 when added to last year's grand total.

Most of the growth in wealth remains in the residential field, followed closely by commercial and then industrial properties, the assessor said.

STILL, WANAKA indicated, commercial property continued to increase in wealth at an accelerated pace, up about 12 per cent over last year.

The over-all tax rolls showed, by comparison, an eight per cent jump.

"Values, when considered by districts, reveal that the Richmond area, including the city, has the largest gain," Wanaka said.

Not all of Richmond's 12 per cent increase is growth, however, Wanaka explained that the district, in the interests of county-wide tax equality had recently been reappraised.

IN THE CENTRAL county area, Concord led the list with a net gain to county rolls of $9 million.

Walnut Creek showed a gross assessed value of $35.1 million, yielding a net increase to the county of $4.5 million.

Pleasant Hill follows with $25 million total, an increase of $2.9 million.

Areas immediately outside Walnut Creek represent $22 million of the county's assessable wealth, with an increase of

IN OTHER unincorporated territory in the central county area, Lafayette barely led Orinda in growth, gaining $2.7 million. Orinda totalled up a $2.3 million gain.

Total assessed value of the two communities: Orinda, $38.2 million; Lafayette, $45 million.

Alamo registered only a few thousand dollars short of a $1 million boost, beefing up its total to $12.3 million.

CONSTRUCTION activity in the Moraga area was undoubtedly behind that community's $1.4 million gain to $9.4 million.

Off to itself, little Canyon made a showing with an $840,000 dribble to the rolls, creating a total of $249,940.

Danville neared a $20 million total with an increase of $1.5 million, while San Ramon added almost as much to a smaller base for a total of $5.4 million.

DESPITE THE unexcelled increase, Wanaka cautioned that "large increases in assessed value cannot always produce a corresponding reduction in tax rates."

When the increases represent growth only there must be additional expenditures to service this growth," he explained.

But, he said, in the case of Richmond, much of the increase will not require more services because slightly less than 50 per cent of it is actual growth of population or property improvements.

ONLY MAJOR LOSSES in the county were in the area—but not the city—of Pittsburg, where industrial obsolescence and reductions in inventory brought a $1.2 million drop.

Other decreases reflected changes in boundary lines of certain districts, he said.

Significant to assessed value, the assessor pointed out, was a reduction by $2.2 million in property tax exemptions granted to veterans, religious, welfare and hospital groups.

Over the past several years," he explained, "there has been a continuing decrease in the number of claims allowed for veterans' property tax exemptions."

As veterans become wealthier, fewer qualify for this benefit, Wanaka told the board.

AND, HE SAID, some veterans have become ineligible because of the increase in their property values.

Grand jury investigations in this area have accelerated the latter trend, Wanaka reported.

THE BIG ONES—They were biting on a recent seven-day fishing trip in Baja California, according to Joe Cantor (right), jewelry department manager at Simon's in Walnut Creek. He's with fishing friends (left to right) Gus Levy, Sam Berman and Sam Thorne. The anglers took 43 marlin and over 70 dolphin.

Budget Cuts Jeopardize New Children's Center

The proposed Children's Institute and Training Center in Contra Costa cannot become a reality without the governor's signature on two bills and a special legislative session to pump funds into the state budget for them.

L. A. Kimball, public affairs committee chairman of the County Mental Health Association, has urged members and friends to act for the legislation.

A memorandum addressed to all members of the association and interested public informing them of AB 464 and SB 636 which are "sitting on the governor's desk for signature" was sent to Kimball.

AB 464 improves the educational opportunity for children educationally handicapped and includes the neurologically handicapped and emotionally disturbed children.

SB 636 is an amendment by Senator Alan Short to the Short-Doyle Act calling for the present matching state and county funding to be changed to that of 25 per cent for the county and 75 per cent matched by the state.

"The local county facilities cannot be expanded, nor can we initiate new programs unless this bill is now signed into law by the governor and the legislature appropriates the finances."

"Also affecting county residents will be no operating expenses for the proposed Children's Institute and Training Center unless the budget submitted by the Department of Mental Hygiene for the additional $1.4 million is honored," Kimball noted.

Other items omitted by the cut in the budget was augmented family care for the mentally ill; staffing at the Napa and Camarillo State Hospital Children's Units; geriatric wards; tranquilizing drugs and research into cause and treatment of the ill, he added.

Members of the public were urged to ask Governor Edmund G. Brown to "give favorable consideration and sign" AB 464 and SB 636.

They were also asked to write Assemblyman Jerome R. Waldie of Antioch, John T. Knox of Richmond, and State Senator George Miller Jr. of Martinez, urging them to ask the governor to adjust the budget.

Big Teen Night Only A Week Off

Okay, teen-agers, circle the date, July 10, on your calendar. That's when The Sun stages a big dance party—just for you—at the Teen Night Club, Happy Valley Inn, Lafayette.

The event for all central county young men and ladies, 15 to 21 years old, starts at 8 p.m. and doesn't end until midnight.

SAM JOHNSON, owner of the Teen Night Club, promises a "real cool" band for dancing. Normally the admission charge at the club is $1.50, but all teen-agers will be mighty "hep" if they carefully peruse any one of The Sun's—Orinda, Lafayette, Walnut Creek and Pleasant Hill—on Friday.

There'll be another story about the July 10th dance, but also a coupon. It will get you into the dance for half price. Can't beat that deal, can you?

SO FOLLOW any one of the four Sun's Friday.

A "smashing" good time is promised one and all the night of July 10.

Library's 50th Anniversary to Be Celebrated

The golden anniversary of the Contra Costa County library system will be celebrated with an open house at the Contra Costa County office building and library, 1750 Oak Park Boulevard, Pleasant Hill, July 21 between 2 and 4 p.m.

The celebration will be sponsored by the Contra Costa Historical Society and Friends and leagues of the various branch libraries throughout the county. It is spearheaded by the Friends of the Pleasant Hill Library.

Assisting the committee chairman, Mrs. Edward F. O'Brien, are Dr. Frederick Pellegrin, president of the group; Mrs. C. J. Damgaard, program chairman of the local Friends; Mrs. Harvey Head, Mrs. Audrey Jones, Mrs. Karl Karlson, Mrs. Jerome Whitaker, Mrs. Jean Harp, Mrs. Virginia Gordon, Mrs. Robert E. Whitfield and Mrs. John Rivera.

The system was inaugurated July, 1913, and Mrs. Alice Whitbeck was chosen at the first county librarian.

MYSTERIOUS ACCIDENT

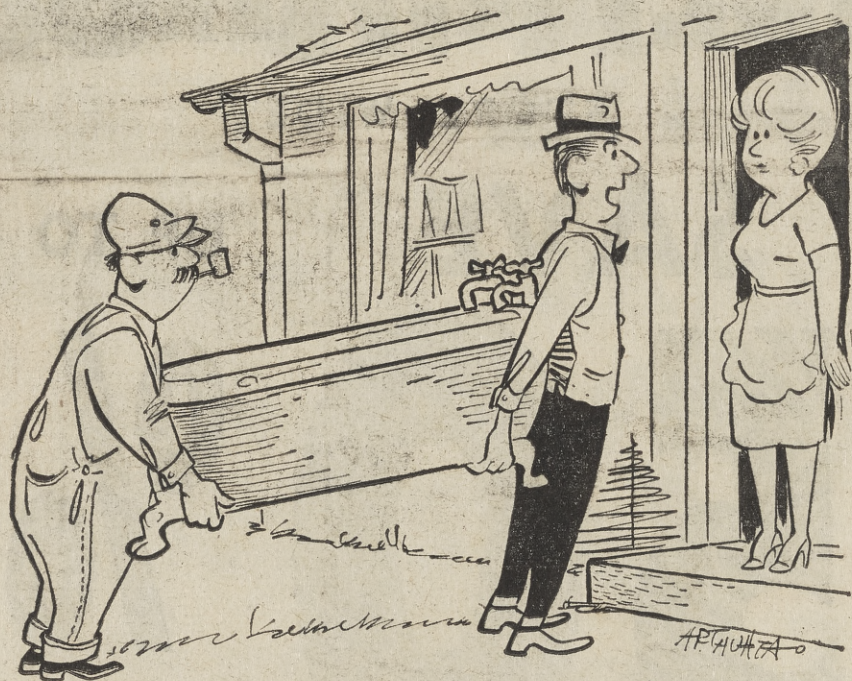

In Thorne, England, the police spotted it.

It was a car, reports the National Automobile Club, badly bent and dented, looking as if it had been hit by a ten-ton truck.

Since the police had no report on such an accident, they left a note in the car advising the owner to appear at the local court.

In court he explained it all. He had just returned from Africa where a curious and then furious bull elephant had tried to stomp his car right into the veldt. Case dismissed.

Assoc. to Put Out Newspaper

The Orinda Association will publish a newspaper in the fall. The board of directors authorized the publication at its meeting June 24 at Orinda School.

The paper will be similar in format to the old Orinda News published by the association, according to President Harry Fledderman. It was discontinued in 1957.

Robert Desmond of Orinda, an experienced newspaperman and former head of the department of journalism at the University of California, will head the editorial staff.

The publication will start out as a quarterly, but timing will be adjustable, said Fledderman.

Courts to Retain Power to Choose Juveniles' Homes

Placement of children in foster homes remains in the hands of the juvenile courts, through the county probation department, because of federal legislation authored by Congressman John F. Baldwin.

Children who are determined to live in homes other than their own would otherwise probably have come under the jurisdiction of the welfare department, Baldwin explained.

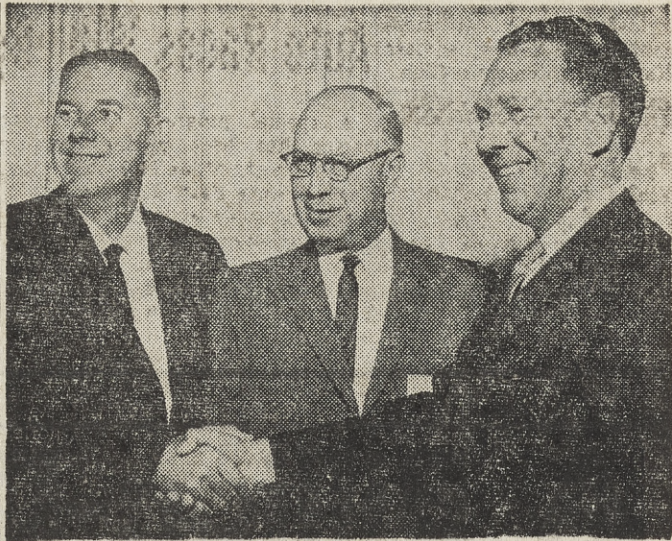

The congressman said he had authored an earlier bill to provide for juvenile court jurisdiction in such cases. The latest measure, HR-2651, extends the provisions of the earlier bill to June 30, 1964.

Cases usually fall under the Aid to Needy Children welfare program, but the legislation enables "other agencies" to make determinations regarding housing. Because, Baldwin said, the federal department of Health, Education and Welfare has not yet completed studies "for a permanent legislative solution to this problem," he introduced the extension of his earlier legislation.

The representative from Contra Costa said his bill had the full support of the State of California as well as the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

And, he added, "it has been actively supported by John Davis, Contra Costa County probation officer."

The bill requires HEW to submit a report by December of this year.

SPEAKER—George R. Gordon of Martinez (left), president of the Contra Costa Junior College District, and Trustee Glenn L. Clemetson, Richmond, renew acquaintances with J. Graham Sullivan (right), former assistant superintendent of the district. The reunion took place at an appreciation breakfast for occupational advisory committee members, at which Sullivan was the principal speaker.

There will also be a trophy dash, with the purse for the winner being announced the night of the race. ALSO ON the program will be two 20 lap main events. Over 900 additional spectators can view the races in comfort, since the grandstand has been enlarged prior to the opening of the 1963 season.

GRANDSTAND prices will be $1.75 for adults, $1 for juniors, and $.50 for children. Opening night at the fair will also feature exhibits, entertainment, carnival rides, and concessions. The five day program includes an appearance by Dennis Clays in a stage show before the same grandstand.

'Good Ballet' Brought To County by Workshop

If the first venture of the Ballet Workshop Guild is any example of what's to come in the future, we can truly say that good ballet has finally come to Contra Costa County.

Last night's performance at Las Lomas High School auditorium was well received. Not only for the professional talent, which was outstanding, but for the ballet performed by the members of the local Ballet Workshop Company.

In an abstract ballet, choreographed by Gordon Showalter, artistic director of the company, six young ladies presented at most delightful performance, using music from Der Rosenkavalier by Richard Strauss.

Contra Costa County can well be proud of the performance of Terry Orr, Walnut Creek youth, who, with Cynthia Gregory, most outstanding young ballerina, executed the Pas de Deux from "The Nutcracker" in a restaging of the original by Pepita.

Both young people are presently starring in San Francisco Ballet Company's "Ballet '63." If last night's performance is any example "Ballet '63" would be well worth seeing.

Rounding out the evening were performances by Toru Iwasaki, a most outstanding Kabuki dancer and Amope Nze, a very dynamic little girl from Nigeria, who with her troupe of drummers, performed her native dances with authentic fervor.

Iwasaki has just returned from a trip to his native Japan where he not only added to his repertoire but to his wardrobe as well.

Both were extremely exciting. Both he and Mis Nze are fine examples of the culture from their native lands.

Projects Are Open to Club Volunteers

By VAL VOLUNTEER

Community agencies need such organizations as scouts, men's and women's clubs, and church groups to work on service projects in the community.

Clubs can attempt such projects as gardening, carpentry, visiting the ill or good, or helping an agency to get out special mailing.

Registration is available with the Volunteer Bureau, 2363 Boulevard Circle, Walnut Creek, or by phoning 934-0424.

WORN "JOINTS"

Worn universal joints, according to the National Automobile Club, give out a peculiar knocking noise when the car is coasting or when the rear wheels are driving the engine.

Summer Care, Planting

In Contra Costa, the sprinkler becomes the most important summer accessory a gardener can buy.

Lawns are fast to show neglect from the hose. They respond to water even more than to fertilizer and therein lies the secret of their enjoyment. In hot desert areas and in our inland valleys, lawns may need soaking every couple of days and at least twice a week.

ANNUALS, PERENNIALS and shallow-rooted shrubs such as azaleas and camellias like frequent doses of moisture in summer. In the hottest parts of California, they may need it every day, but this is an extreme and only for the warmest spells when they hit. Here again, coastal gardeners have it easier than their inland brethren, but twice a week is not too often for watering the above even along the coast.

Wise gardeners can cut their watering time in half or even better than that by the use of mulches around shrubs. Steer manure and/or peat moss and bark in good thick layers will preserve moisture in the soil and add days to the time a plant can go without watering.

The California Association of Nurserymen suggests that a two-inch mulch is twice as good as a one-inch mulch and that a three-inch mulch is twice as effective as a two-inch mulch, so don't be shy about spreading it on thick.

SUMMER PLANTING is a leisurely occupation designed primarily to make up for an earlier oversight and get a blooming plant in without further delay. Roses are a-bloom in nursery containers and may be transplanted to your garden for some instant color and cut flowers. For shaded spots, especially in north coastal areas, fuchsias make colorful transplants from the nursery, and you can always find color from such standbys as geraniums, lantana and hibiscus when you visit a CAN nursery in July.

Aside from the instant-color type planting mentioned above, there are certain plants that are best planted this month and others that need planting now if they are to bloom in fall.

CITRUS and other subtropical fruits like warm weather planting. Included in this category are avocados, guavas, cherimoyas, loquats and felijas. Be sure to water them heavily after planting, however, and give them several follow up soakings during their early weeks in your garden. Young citrus planted now will benefit by having their trunks wrapped in burlap to protect them from sunburn.

Bedding plants for late summer and fall bloom are also available in nurseries this month. Marigolds, dwarf dahlias, zinnias, asters are among the bedders which can go in at this late date for bloom in late summer and fall. Lesser known bedders which will also give you a show in short time are the in-blue ageratum (for shade) and lobelia (for sun).

THE GARDENER who gets fun from starting from seeds can sow perennials for bloom next spring and annuals for bloom this winter. Among the perennials which come easily from seed are primroses, delphiniums, columbines, Transvaal daisies and gazanias. Annuals to sow now for winter include stocks and snapdragons, pansies and violas.

From the planting standpoint, summer is far less frenetic than spring, but as you can see from the above, there are things to do which will make our future months more pleasant to garden in.

Bloomin' Shrubs

Summer-flowering shrubs are less plentiful than their spring counterparts, but Contra Costa gardeners have a better-than-average selection from which to choose.

They range from such exotics as hibiscus and fuchsia to such general purpose shrubs as abelia and escallonia.

One often overlooks the merits of his best friends when some illustrious newcomer over-shadows them.

Such is the case of the general purpose shrubs in our gardens. SO MUCH IS written about the more exotic newcomers that we forget just how fine some of our old garden friends are.

Abelia is a case in point. Without the familiar Glossy Abelia, which displays its myriad small white blooms each summer, California gardens would be far less colorful.

Yet, because there is nothing flashy about this terrific shrub, gardeners often overlook it when it comes to planting something new.

ABELIA IS practically indestructible here. Neither drought nor lack of care seems to change the crisp freshness of its green-tinted-bronze foliage, nor its small tubular flowers.

The variety Edward Goucher produces pink flowers, but otherwise has the same clean appearance throughout the year.

You can get good mileage with abelias in the foundation or in the shrub border.

ESCALLONIAS, LIKE abelias, have a crisp, clean appearance that seems unaffected by heat or neglect.

They are not completely happy in drought, but resent too much water on the other hand, so you needn't worry much about them.

There are several large escallonias which are better in parks than in small gardens, but members of the California Association offer two varieties which are well suited to small spaces.

ONE, THE Pink Escallonia, is a shrub of some eight feet with green foliage that has an undertone of red in it.

The flowers are pink when they break, fading to white as they linger on into the summer.

THE OTHER IS the Red Escallonia, similar to the above but with red terminal flower clusters.

From the hypericum family which gives us the creeping ground cover Aaron's Beard, we have two or three larger shrubs for summer color in foundations and borders.

The best new variety is Sun-gold which produces a mass of the familiar golden yellow cups of color all summer long.

THE BLUE-flowering Cape Plumbago often seems more vine than shrub, for left to its own hook, it will ramble and scramble up over any support or tumble down a bank.

With annual pruning, however, it can be kept well mannered and restrained.

The blue flowers, like phlox in their appearance, completely smother this shrub which is often ten feet high and nearly as wide.

CAPE PLUMBAGO can be a colorful addition to your summer garden when handled properly.

Give it a well-drained soil and not much water.

The Rosemary Grevillea is not a spectacular shrub in bloom by any means, but it gives us interesting growth patterns and ruggedly handsome looks.

A spreading, loosely growing shrub, it is good for banks or the top of a retaining wall, where its red and white flowers are better shown than they are in lower settings.

THESE ARE found on the shrub most of the year, but are heaviest in summer.

If you want an interesting effect, try growing Rosemary Grevillea in a large tub in a sunny spot. You'll like the silvery leaves and irregular growth habit when displayed this way.

There are other summer flowering standbys to be found in C.A.N. nurseries.

Sun Home and Garden

Enjoy Summer Outdoors By Improving Landscape

At the weather warms up and portable barbecues are put to frequent use once again, many of us realize how really inadequate our means for enjoying them are.

We like the idea of outdoor living, but lack the refinements which make it truly pleasurable.

When such is the case, it's time to redesign the landscape, seeking not only new planting arrangements, but basic architectural changes which make outdoor living easy to enjoy.

THE FIRST thing you should consider is access to the garden. In order to reach the barbecue area, do you have to walk through a laundry porch and down a set of stairs, past the garbage can and other unsightly items in the yard?

What you need is another approach, even if it means cutting a door where a window is now.

A DECK is another possibility, built at floor level and stepped down gradually to the patio where you barbecue, or a deck that's big enough for your outdoor living.

If you've been barbecuing on a lawn, you'll no doubt find that some sort of paving will make things easier—flagstone, brick, concrete or even gravel.

It will make your lawn look better too, when one corner of it isn't trampled by excessive use.

THESE ARE problems a member of the California Association of Nurserymen can help you solve, either personally or by referral.

Garden CHECK-LIST

PREPARED BY THE CALIFORNIA ASSOCIATION OF NURSERYMEN

1. Add quick color to sunny corners of the garden with zinnias and marigolds. Try ageratum if you need a plant that likes part shade.
2. Feed hibiscus with liquid fish or with an acid type fertilizer. Water them regularly to keep new growth coming on.
3. Mulch hydrangeas. They'll appreciate the moisture-saving mulch and you'll see how much more beautiful they can be with the proper water.
4. Pinch back newly planted annuals and you'll have sturdier plants, more bloom later on.
5. Cut delphiniums back to about eight inches after the first bloom. Feed and water them to encourage quick growth for the second round of bloom.

When fences are chosen for privacy, they should be softened with plant material—especially espaliered material such as fig, evergreen pear or vining plants such as English ivy or evergreen clematis.

Shade is especially important. THE C.A.N. recommends planting deciduous shade for outdoor living areas since in winter, the leaves fall, permitting winter's sun to penetrate.

Silk tree is a pleasant patio tree, despite its tendency to drop seed pods, twigs and such throughout the year.

Its lacy green foliage and beautiful pink flowers in summer more than make up for the clutter.

FOR THE PATIO or deck, the gardener has a wide selection of plant material to choose from. Many shrubs can be planted either in containers or in the ground.

New Zealand flax, heavenly bamboo, dwarf conifers, paper reed and dwarf citrus are only a few that can be handled this way.

All of them make good companions in the outdoors.

COLOR IS THE last need and one of the easiest to satisfy.

Container grown geraniums, hibiscus, marguerites and potted plants such as tuberous begonias, fuchsias and chrysanthemums give you portable color to be moved in where and when you need it.

Summer bedding plants, in which C.A.N. nurseries abound this month can be used to fill sunny beds, and roses should always be near at hand.

They all contribute their share of your added pleasure in outdoor living.

'In the Shadows'

POOR SPORT—The real excitement in the early innings at a semi-pro baseball game played at Walnut Creek's Civic Field Sunday was caused by one of the city's men in blue. Shortly after the game began the policeman drove up to a new circular drive leading to the ball field and started tagging all the cars. The "no parking at any times" sign was something the local baseball fans never bothered about because it was new this year. Many in the crowd scurried to their cars, but no one was allowed to leave. A few of the players ran from their positions to plead their cases, but they were quickly "given the score." Despite the cop's "high score," (about 20 cars) the assembled throng felt that the Walnut Creek police department had "struck out."

WHO'S WHO'S WHO?—The first edition of "Who's Who Executives in California" and the eighth edition of the "Who's Who" series is hot off the press, announces author-editor-publisher Catti Armstrong.

Listed not once but twice is Dr. Drummond J. McCunn. He is listed as being from Martinez and from Lafayette. (Which may be more hysterical than historical.)

NO SWEAT FOR BARRY—During the Young Republican's conclave in San Francisco, Mrs. W. Middleton ("Bunny") O'Brien Jr. of Orinda drew a lot of attention as she and her two young sons buzzed about the county.

The young and attractive Smith alumna was sporting what is possibly the first of its kind in a Contra Costa—a Goldwater sweatshirt, a la the recent Bach-Beethoven-Brahms sweatshirt craze.

COST GOING UP—Everybody knows that the Bay Area Rapid Transit District is going to build a 75-mile train system at a cost of $792 million. But, according to a recent news release from the district office, there's going to be a "small" $200 million hike in the price. In announcing William A. Bugge as the new $25,000 director of design and construction, the release called the system a "billion dollar project." And who's to worry over a few hundred million dollars.

THAT WAS QUITE THE SESSION, MEL NIELSEN had at Miramonte High School recently... his face is still pretty red from his encounter with the kids there... the county supervisor was to address three American government classes, separately, on county matters... in the first class he spent 15 minutes of the 50-minute period explaining county government in operation, and then began defending himself from attacks that had been made against him... after Nielsen explained that he'd gone out of the gas station business, one boy asked, "Isn't it true that you went bankrupt?"... The supervisor blushed and stared as the youth continued, "How can a person who can't run a gas station business be trusted to run a $50 million county government?"... Nielsen then went on to explain that his financial troubles were his wife's fault... He told the students that she had run off with another man, leaving him penniless... at the second Miramonte class, Nielsen was asked the same question again and reiterated his previous answer... Finally, at his third appearance at the school, he held up a warning hand and said, "Okay, kids, don't ask, I'll explain," and once more the supervisor repeated the same story... all we can say is that Nielsen must have been pretty well-pushed by the time he staggered out from Miramonte...

LANDMARK—Although The Sun's Lafayette office has been located at 1001 Oak Hill Road for more than 12 years, it wasn't realized what an "institution" the building had become until this week. Directions to a junior high class party had The Sun's office clearly marked so the students would know they were going the right way. Perhaps The Sun "has arrived."

CHRONICILISM—Local right-wingers or whatever you call them are supposedly shying away from The Sun because it is similar to a San Francisco morning daily called the Chronicle. Although we're not pleading for right-wing support and we're not about to campaign for Earl Warren's impeachment we can't understand what we've done to deserve this.

The Care And Feeding Of Parents

As baby grows up, smart folks know how to turn outgrown furniture into ready cash.

John Heath, 50 Tara Road, Orinda, did just that with a single Sun want ad which sold a crib playpen and baby-tenda in a single day.

More, the Heaths sold a sofa-hidabed, a wagon wheel bunk beds, an easy chair and a roll-away bed with the same ad and on the same day.

Phenomenal results like these are an every day event for central county residents because Sun want ads appear in all five Sun publications:

The 59,000-circulation Sun Shopping News—and the four Sun Newspapers: The Lafayette Sun, The Walnut Creek Sun, The Pleasant Hill Sun and The Orinda Sun.

A 14-day ad costs as little as $3.20 for a four-week run—with a pro-rated rebate when you sell right away!

Seaborg is a 1951 Nobel Prize winner.

He lived in Lafayette when he was chancellor of the University of California.

His new term is for five years.

For the Birds

By BARBARA BEDAYN

"THE PARK has been full of people all weekend, but by 9:30 tonight, you and the raccoons will be the only ones on the mountain," said the ranger.

He was right. At 9:00 Mt. Diablo was a quiet island with a billowing ocean of fog lapping at its base. The air was clear and pungent with chaparral odors of pitcher sage, chamise, and low growing juniper. A pair of Ash-throated Flycatchers sent their pulsing call over the heads of the 16 BCCCC (Bird Class of Contra Costa County) camping under gnarled oaks at Blue Oak Camp.

Two White-breasted Nuthatches ran up and down the trunk of an old Digger pine, inspecting these invaders of their domain.

THE MOUNTAIN was bathed in moonlight. A Great-horned Owl, out looking for field mice, hooted from the bay trees. The last arrivals, Ken and Helen Hoffman, fresh from Miramonte's baccalaureate, drove quietly in, which called for another round of hot coffee, and then everything was still on the mountain.

Twice during the night, the leader sat up with the unmistakable, musky odor of skunk floating on the air, to check Lucie Hupp's hollow tree headboard in case said striped visitor decided to reclaim his home. All calm. Lights of Livermore sparkling in distance. Stars reaching down to sparkle with them.

WITH A SWOOSH, dense fog arrived, now only the nearest oak branches visible. Then it was gone, leaving fat drops drip, dripping from every leaf.

Faint rosy light in the east. Kirke Rowley of Walnut Creek up to build a crackly fire under the coffee pot. Violet-green swallows chattering over the grassy hillslope, looking for the earliest flying insects.

"Ank, ank" of the still curious nuthatch, checking the early risers. Soft notes of the bluebirds, flashing their brilliant blue wings over the parked cars. A tremulous California Thrasher concert sounds from the chaparral up mountain, is joined by a louder, sweet-toned thrasher melody down canyon.

Coffee fragrance permeates the air, the first steaming cups from Albert and Dixie Mohr's efficient camper. Bacon, eggs, and coffee cake are finished, and pinch! pinch! can this really be us busy parents of considerable progeny going off on a bird walk at 7:00 a.m.! It's unbelievable. It's delightful!

Soon we are joined by Carol Buell and Gladys Shally of Canyon, Virginia Hawkins of Orinda, and we stand watching a singing Lazuli Bunting male laying out his nesting territory on the chamise covered hillside.

THE WINDSLOWS, Mildred and Win, find the Allen's Hummer at the sticky monkey flower. Mildred admires the tall white delphinium stalks, with flower arrangements always in the back of her mind.

"The girls," Bobbie Dodson, Jo Maehler, Elsie Wale of Orinda help Bobbie collect flower specimens for the Girl Scouts: blue and purple chia just coming into bloom, producer of the most nourished seeds to be found on the mountain, satiny mariposa tulips in shades of cream and rose, purple brodiaea, cerise godetia, brilliant yellow lizard's tail and wall flowers.

Bewick Wrens sing at every turn in the fire trail. Hummers zig from monkey flower to chamise. A Red-tailed Hawk rides warm ascending air currents and a family of titmice hang from the twigs of a blue oak. As the sun warms the chaparral, that sweet pungent scent we noticed so strikingly the evening before envelopes us. We feel with Joaquin Miller:

"I am lifted, elate; the skies expand.
Here the world's heaped gold is a pile of sand."

BACK TO the parked cars and the bluebird family. A flashing red, yellow and black Western Tanager is spied in the grey leaves of a blue oak. He is still in his migration to the mountains. Lark Sparrows on a ranch fence on the drive down; a Sparrow Hawk beating over the wild oats looking for grasshoppers; a quartet of buzzards circling over a dead ground squirrel, we're off the mountain.

The most beautiful part of all this is its availability to everyone in Contra Costa County. Mt. Diablo State Park serves as a refuge to all of us who are under the pressures of civilization and who long to feel, again with Joaquin Miller,

"The world is gone like an empty word.
My body's a bow in the wind.
My heart, a bird."

OIL
Drilling for oil had its "good old days" too.
On August 27, 1839, at Titusville in Pennsylvania, reports the National Automobile Club, Colonel Edwin Drake sent down the first well just 70 feet and struck oil.
One hundred years later, in Texas, oilmen sent down a well almost five miles and struck nothing but rocks and dust.

6 Cal Students To Attend School In Europe This Fall

Six local students are among a selected group of over 180 University of California students who will participate in the "Education Abroad" programs.

Four of the students who will attend the campus in Bordeaux, France, are Ann Shipley, 3050

Round Hill Road, Danville; Linn Sperry, 1094 Orchard Road, Lafayette, and Suzanne Arighi, 104 Overhill Road, Orinda.

LYNN LOVELAND, 32 Camino Del Diablo, Orinda, will attend the Padua, Italy, campus. James Webster, 2977 Putnam

Boulevard, Walnut Creek, will be attending school in Goettingen. Following orientation sessions on the Santa Barbara campus early in September, participants will be abroad for special language training prior to beginning academic work at their chosen center.

Participants for all UC Education Abroad programs are chosen on the basis of superior academic records, seriousness of purpose and the ability to adapt to a new environment. Students meet their own transportation, tuition and other costs. Some financial aid through university scholarship and loan funds has been made available to those who qualify.

THE BORDEAUX program was instituted last fall as the University's first education abroad venture. The University of California Regents authorized additional programs in Germany and Italy for the coming year. The students will be studying at their respective campuses for the coming academic year.

WATCH OUT FOR THOSE BANANAS Port Antonio, Jamaica, is the busiest banana port on Jamaica.

Stores Are Open Tonite

Several stores in Broadway Shopping Center, including Capwell's Sears and J. C. Penney's, will be open for evening shopping tonight. Spokesmen for the Broadway Merchants Association at the Walnut Creek center said the opening would enable shoppers to obtain last-minute vacation items before the Fourth of July holiday and following weekend. The entire center is ordinarily open on Monday, Thursday and Friday evenings. All stores in the center will close for the Fourth of July.

800 Camn Fire Girls Attend

Nearly 800 Blue Birds, Camp Fire Girls, junior high and Horizon Club members attended the Ice Follies in San Francisco Saturday. These girls are members of groups in the central county area who are represented by the Central Contra Costa Council of Camp Fire Girls. The girls earned the trip by selling at least 25 boxes of Camp Fire mints during the annual sale held in February. Mrs. Margaret Bradshaw, field director, was in charge of the arrangements. She will be assisted by Lila Boghosian. ROBERT Tucker, area candy chairman, was special guest for the day for his support of the candy sale. Counselors attending the Follies with the girls from local schools were: Mesdames Sue Miller, Ethel Deuschle, Lorraine Mueller, Millie Ashworth, Barbara Thomas, Dorothy Jones, Della Jean Maddux, Jeanne Hexton and Olga Chuchovich from Walnut Creek. Mesdames Lena Widener, Barbara Pricer and Jackie Raaka from Orinda; Mesdames Betty Krueger and Edna van Wagner from Lafayette; Mesdames Adele Filomeo, Bobette Conlin, Eleanor Corriea, Pat Jones, Gwen Gelder and Liz Smith from Pleasant Hill. Mrs. John Ziehn assisted with a mixed group from Pleasant Hill and Lafayette.

'FOR THE BIRDS'
By BARBARA BEDAYN
SPRING IS ARRIVING LATE in the Sierra. Snow banks lie everywhere, rapidly melting in the warm sun and sending a veinwork of rivulets cascading down the slopes. Soft, fuzzy, leaf ears poke up through the damp fir needles like Mr. MacGregor's buried bunnies, but no flowers yet; therefore no hummingbirds. By mid-June last year, the flaming red and yellow Western Tanager was loudly announcing his nesting territory with bursts of robin-like song and call of "Crick-it, crick-it" from the fir tops. This June he's quiet, unobtrusive, obviously just arrived from his winter quarters in the south and still too tired to think about the exhausting subject of nests. Besides, Mrs. Tanager is lagging. I saw no sign of her yellow and olive form in the avalanche chute which has been their private property for the past three summers. JUNCOS, ONE OF THE EARLIEST NESTERS in the mountains, already have made their neat grassy cups on the ground or a horizontal beam of a cabin, and have laid therein their four or five small brown or lavender speckled eggs. In similar situations are juncos in Contra Costa County, but ours here are now on their second brood, or even starting their third. Mountain Chickadees are looking for old woodpecker holes to harbor their fur-lined nests and five to eight white eggs. A deep crack in a stump will do, or the rotted end of an old snag. He is one of the birds who will nest in a bird house; so if you would like to watch this little black-capped acrobat's antics from your cabin window, put a bird house with a small (one-inch) hole with landing twig beneath. A FLASH OF YELLOW in the just budding willows is the newly arrived Wilson Warbler, exactly like the ones nesting along your willow lined creek. The mountain Wilsons are not yet nesting. Perhaps they are waiting for the alders and willows to leaf out completely to give their bulky grassy nests some protection. Constantly active, this bright yellow little warbler with the black cap is often seen around mountain cabins. TWO THRUSHES are being heard if not often seen: the fluted Hermit Thrush who is quietly working on his round nest in the thick lower branches of a hemlock; and more rarely, a torrent of exquisite robin-like notes pours down the mountain to indicate a Townsend Solitaire who is building his mossy nest on a bank or at the base of a tree. Only the very quiet watcher will see the solitary, with his mockingbird colors and shy habits. Also like the mocker (to which he is not related), in the exuberance of mating season, he will pour out his melodious song on the wing. At other times he sings from a dead snag or high from the top of a tall fir. In the deep woods of the Sierra, walk softly and watch for this elusive bird.

Don't Shock Plants When Transplanting

Transplanting from nursery flat to ground should be done with a minimum of disturbance to the plants.

In warm weather, it is especially important to guard against the shock of drying out.

The ground should be thoroughly watered a day or two in advance of planting, and after the young plants are set out, they should be watered in immediately.

Plants that have been purchased in less than flat-quantity should go into the ground as soon as you get them home. If delay is inevitable, set the plants in the shade and keep them moist.

To guard against wilting, shade the newly planted annuals with burlap or some other screening material. You can get by without this step, but your bedders will be much happier with it.

When the young bedders are in place, pinch out the top portion of each plant to encourage its becoming bushier. Failure to do so will reduce the number of blooms a plant can produce in the long run.

By pinching, you stimulate side branching and the more branches you have on any plant, the more blooms it will produce.

So reconcile yourself to missing the first buds and remind yourself that removing them is all for the best. You won't be sorry you did.

145-Acre Ranch Sold for Tract

The 145-acre Dailey Ranch in south Walnut Creek has been purchased for an undisclosed amount by Whitecliff Homes, San Mateo building firm which will create a 350-home development on the property. North of Livorna Road near Alamo but within the city limits of Walnut Creek, the property was sold by Richard F. Dailey, 400 Wilson Road, who retained 23 acres for his own future use.

Lafayette real estate broker John Lee handled the transaction. He declined to reveal the purchase price.

With the property goes conditional development plan zoning approved two years ago for another applicant, to the Walnut Creek Planning Department.

THE ZONING will allow development of lots 10,000 square feet in character if not in actual size. Lots approved earlier are over 10,000 feet because of the hilly terrain of the ranch area, a planning department spokesman said.

Whitecliff officials said, however, they would make a "thorough review" of the area for planning purposes.

According to planning commission ruling, the present conditional development plan zoning will be in effect for the next 11 months if the developers want to proceed with it.

Planning commission review would be limited to consideration of a final tract map.

ACTUAL construction is scheduled for next spring, according to Whitecliff partners Paul C. Petersen and Robert Moretti.

The $25,000 to $30,000 homes will be developed in what Moretti called "a complete residential development" with direct access from the new state freeway.

Moretti said the freeway access was one of the prime factors in the decision to purchase.

Developer Paul Petersen said Whitecliff was "well aware of Contra Costa's charm and desirability as a suburban community—and its fine reputation for quality homes."

HE SAID THE 10-year old firm's own reputation would "reflect our high regard for the good taste and high standards of the area we will soon join as

Latanas Love Hot Contra Costa Summer

A shrub that thrives in heat which would make less durable shrubs run for cover is the lantana.

Give lantanas the hot sun and they will come back for more. Heat makes them happy and brings out the best in them—which is mighty good, as you'll find when you see some of the new hybrid lantanas in nurseries.

Lantanas are both compact and spreading shrubs which can be used as border specimens or as ground covers on a dry, sun-baked bank. GENERATIONS of Contra Costans have grown up with the trailing, lavender-flowered lantanas firmly implanted in their memories.

These are useful shrubs, but their newer cousins will earn most of the raves from gardeners today.

Colors range from pure, brilliant yellow to shades of pink, orange-red, white and purple.

FEW shrubs have responded more readily to the hybridists' magic than these in the past few years.

Lantanas are subject to freezing back in cold winters, but they will sprout new tops again the following year and be good as new in time.

Finding Teens Jobs

Teenagers looking for summer employment opportunities have registered at Las Lomas and Del Valle High Schools to fill the community's needs during the summer vacation.

Once more the Rotary Club of Walnut Creek is sponsoring this service to youth and residents of the greater Walnut Creek area.

This project was started by the local Rotary Club in 1959 and has been most successful.

Rotary and school personnel involved in managing the placement program include President Roy Hjermsen (right) and Lou Capra (center) of Rotary, John Chambers and Mrs. Fairbairn of Las Lomas High School.

Placement will be made by Candy Carlisle (left) a Del Valle student, who will be at Las Lomas each morning.

Residents who wish to avail themselves of this service may call Las Lomas High School during the work week and leave their name, address, telephone number, type of work to be done and the employment time desired.

HIGHWAY SYSTEM

More than 14,500 miles of the 41,000-mile National System of Interstate and Defense Highways, reports the National Automobile Club are now open to traffic.

A good rule of thumb to use in seasoning is to add one-quarter of a teaspoon of dried herbs for every four servings.

NO PARKING, YET—But in three weeks parking facilities on Locust Street should be complete with the second Municipal Lot providing over 140 stalls. Extensive excavation preceded paving as heavy equipment cut down the gentle slope opposite Civic Drive in Walnut Creek.

Mayor Newell Case of Walnut Creek has been appointed chairman of the intergovernmental affairs committee of the Association of Bay Area Governments.

The committee is considered a key one in the organization which seeks remedies to similar and common governmental problems among Bay Area municipalities, districts and counties.

Case has and will continue to serve on ABAG's transportation committee as well.

Suburbia Today to Have Many Party Tips for You

Amy Vanderbilt gives her lighthearted account of successful (and not so successful) parties she has given and attended in "What Makes a Party?" in the July issue of Suburbia Today.

The popular magazine supplement will soon be appearing in all The Sun—Walnut Creek, Orinda, Lafayette and Pleasant Hill.

MRS. VANDERBILT'S favorite motto for entertaining, borrowed from Lady Mendl, has helped many a hostess in many a crisis—"Never explain, never complain." You'll find yourself agreeing with the author of "Amy Vanderbilt's Complete Book of Etiquette" when she points out at the end what really makes a party.

Insofar as baseball is concerned, the upcoming issue of Suburbia Today will have an article by Omer Johnson telling how Kettering, Ohio, has solved the problem of overcompetitiveness in Little League action.

"A boy may never be a Roger Maris, but in Kettering he can learn what baseball is all about and begin his happy life as a fan," Johnson writes.

THE MAGAZINE'S garden editor, John Brimer, tells how you can save gallons and cut down considerably on gardening chores by studying your climate and soil.

Food editor Melanie De Proff has prepared some spicy Kaiseki Tyori (party dishes to you) that could make any meat-and-potato man trade his knife and fork in for a pair of chopsticks. Among the exotic dishes are Oriental Beef Stew, Suckling a la Gourmet with Sauce

Oriental, Fish in Japanese Mushroom Sauce, Sukiyaki and Oshacococonut Mousse.

The magazine, upcoming soon in all copies of The Sun, has an article entitled, "If You Are Having a Baby You Are Right in Fashion This Year."

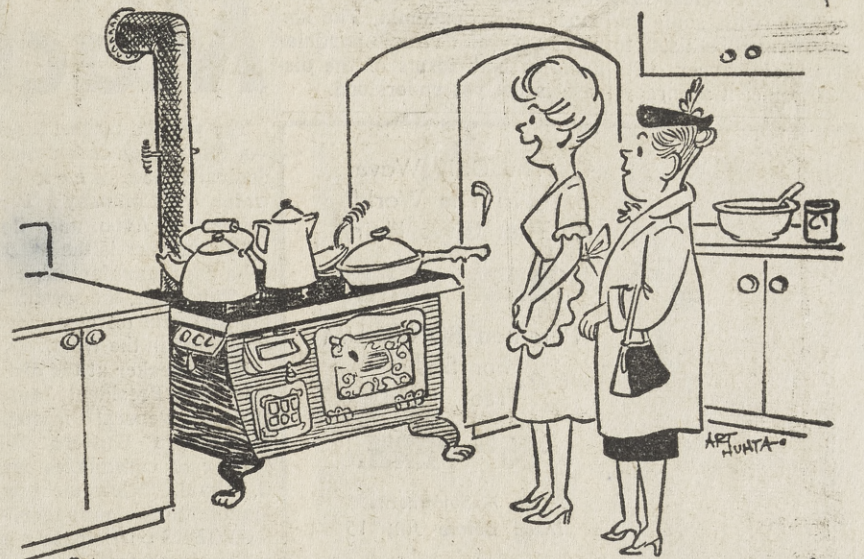

THE NEW fashions, set off with the right accessories, show mothers-to-be how they can look not only radiant but just as smart as their temporarily slender friends.

Many other helpful, informative articles will appear in the upcoming issue of Suburbia Today.

Be sure and watch for it in your favorite copy of The Sun—no matter whether it's the Walnut Creek Sun, Lafayette Sun, Orinda Sun or the Pleasant Hill Sun.

$20 Million Gas Machine Okayed

The world's largest Isocracker—a $20 million investment—was dedicated last week at Tidewater Oil Company's Flying A refinery at Avon, near Concord.

The refinery is the 142,000-barrel-a-day manufacturing center for Tidewater, the second largest international oil company headquartered in the West.

Main speaker at the dedication was Vice President James McDonald, general manager of Tidewater's Western Division.

Master of ceremonies was Ben C. Shaul, Tidewater's western manufacturing manager.

OTHERS participating in dedication ceremonies were Assemblyman J. R. Waldie; T. J. Coll, member of the Contra Costa Board of Supervisors; G. H. Krueger, mayor of Concord; J. A. Miller, vice mayor of Martinez; J. O. Fries, president of the Contra Costa County Development Association; L. P. Elliott, processing vice president of California Research Corporation; S. D. Bechtel Jr., president of Bechtel Corporation; H. Y. Hyde, Tidewater's manufacturing manager, and C. L. Persyn, assistant manufacturing manager for Tidewater's western division.

Following dedication ceremonies and a tour of the Isocracker, the 300 guests at the dedication adjourned to luncheon at the Concord Inn.

AVON'S Isocracker, a 20,000-barrel-a-day complex, increases gasoline output while actually requiring a smaller input of crude oil. The feat isn't magic but the details are secret. Basically, the increased yield is accomplished by adding hydrogen during the Isocracking process, which uses highly active catalysts to improve product quality.

With the addition of hydrogen, the Isocracker yields about 120 barrels of gasoline and butane for each 100 barrels of heavier distillate feedstock charged to the unit.

Total refinery production will not be increased, so as production of gasoline, a high value product, rises, production of lower value products such as fuel oil decreases.

The Isocracking complex at Avon includes a 50-million-cubic-foot-a-day hydrogen plant, the largest single such unit ever designed; an 18,000-barrel prefractionator, and a 20,000-barrel, two-stage Isocracker which has an HDN (hydrodenitrogenation) stage to "clean up" feedstock and a second reaction stage where feedstock is converted into high quality gasoline.

KEY FEATURES of the Isocracker are six soaring steel reactors which tower over the plant. In these huge reactors the conversion of feedstocks into gasoline and butane take place. The reactors are about 100 feet high and weigh about 400 tons each. The reactors were fabricated in Wisconsin and shipped individually to the refinery last fall. Each of the shipments weighed more than a million pounds, heaviest ever rail shipment at the time, and required special rail routing.

The complex's hydrogen plant is one of the world's largest and, at capacity, consumes 50 per cent more gas than the nearby city of Concord and its environs, an area with a population well over 50,000.

Tidewater's Isocracking complex, built by Bechtel Corporation, uses a process licensed by California Research Corpora-

Polio Clinics Earn $670,000

A K.O. POLIO program surplus of approximately $670,000 was reported recently by the county medical societies who organized and conducted the highly successful Bay Area program following and audit.

As announced in February, the surplus funds will be turned over by the Medical Societies to various community health projects.

A major portion of the surplus resulted from donations for Type III vaccine, which were made despite the fact that K. O. POLIO leaders had publicized expenses of the program had been met and that no donations were necessary.

SOMETHING WAS MISSING

Up in Canada a motorist was cruising along the highway at a comfortable 50 miles an hour, reports the National Automobile Club, when he looked out the side window and saw two fast-traveling motorcyclists whiz ahead of him.

Something, however, seemed to be missing. It was the motorcycle.

Apparently the two had been thrown from their speeding cycle and, still in the cycling position, had landed on an oil slick and continued to speed along the highway.

Suffering only a few minor cuts and bruises, they recovered and repaired their cycle, went more warily on their way.

Okay, Dobbin, Let's Go

They're Just Crazy About All Horses

By TERRY HANSEN

A big game hunter belongs to the club, but so does another gentleman who at one time rode his horse with a search party into the High Sierra looking for some lost boys.

Tets, barely able to grip the saddle horn, think the club is the "mostes," but their enthusiasm is equally shared by their mothers and grandparents, too.

Week ends and warm summer days, the equestrians—no matter whether they're six or 80—are out on their horses. After all, they're member of the Los Caballeros Saddle Club.

THE CLUB, one of several in the central county area, was formed back in March of last year by eight families.

The instigators of the idea were Dick Patterson and his wife, Shirley. They had moved into Walnut Creek's Tice Valley area from Denver, and noting there was a substantial number of riding horses grazing in the area, decided a club for horse-lovers should be formed.

The first organizational meeting attracted eight families but many more than that now belong.

Patterson, the group's first president, said, "Anyone owning a horse is eligible to join our club."

"OUR PURPOSE is to promote horseback riding activities and develop knowledge in the care, selection and training of horses."

Some activities include trail rides, "play days," pot-luck dinners and broom polo. The group even has plans for organizing a drill team.

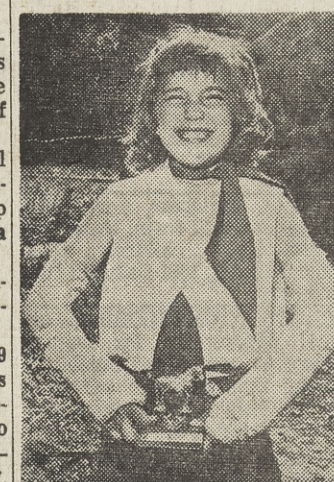

The club has some pretty well-known members in the horse-lovers' world.

One of them, Susan Jones, 169 Arlene Drive, Walnut Creek, has received many trophies and ribbons. A horse of hers, "Two Bits," is a registered Mustang—a breed that is fast disappearing. In her spare time Miss Jones gives riding lessons and even runs a string of horses on a Twain Harte dude ranch.

B. VAN WOLBECK, 280 Castle Hill Ranch Road, Walnut Creek, is a native of Mexico. But since moving to California, he has participated in a 120-day horseback ride. That took place when Wolbeck and other "leather jacket soldiers" were in a group that rode from San Diego to San Francisco along the route that Portola, the Spanish land expedition leader, took back in 1769.

The big game hunter belonging to the Los Caballeros Saddle Club is Keith Hudson of 2100 Glenhaven Avenue, Walnut Creek.

Deborah Jackson
A horse fall victim

Club is Keith Hudson of 2100 Glenhaven Avenue, Walnut Creek.

He has hunted in many countries, including Africa, and his trophy room is filled with the mounted heads of many of his kills. But one animal that hasn't visited Hudson's taxidermist is his Tennessee Walking Horse.

The Pattersons have three horses that they treasure—"Foxy," a great grandson of that famous thoroughbred, "Man-of-War"; "Stonewall's Golden Lancer," a 4-year-old registered American saddlebred palomino gelding.

AT ONE TIME Harold Johnson, 220 Monticello Drive, Walnut Creek, considered himself strictly a city boy, with sailing being his first sporting love.

"But I changed after I moved to the suburbs," he said. "I got two horses and joined the club. What fun!"

Recently the Los Caballeros group staged their annual horse show and gymkhana at the Buck eye Ranch in Lafayette.

WHEN THE day-long event had concluded, Mary Grace Davidson, 2261 Tice Valley Boulevard, Walnut Creek, had snared the senior high point trophy, and Susan Bonds, 3 Dos Encinos, Orinda, had walked away with the junior high point sterling silver belt.

But the annual show doesn't command the members' major attention. As one comely equestrienne put it, "Trophies are fine, but you can't ride them."

"And that's why we're in this club—to ride horses, period."

No Reply to WC's Demurrer In Zone Suit

Attorney Allan Trant has yet to file a reply to the City of Walnut Creek's demurrer in the Lancaster zoning case.

The suit seeks $250,000—or $25,000 and zoning for a nursing and convalescent home—for the owners of 3.88 acres of land on Lancaster Road.

The city had denied zoning for several uses.

Included in the complaint are charges that Walnut Creek Planning Commissioner Sidney Ross (not on the commission at that time) was involved in a secret promise to trade annexation his and neighboring properties in Westwood Court for a single family zoning on the adjacent Lancaster parcel.

As you can see, the Harold Jackson family loves horses. Father holds Eden, 20 months, while mother is at bridge. Other offspring are (left to right) Beth, 13; Adel, 10; Divra, 7, and Carol, 16.
